Loxton apiarist the second to claim bee deaths from poisoning... MIS-BEE-HAVIOUR?

HUGH SCHUITMAKER

A WELL-known Loxton man is the second Riverland beekeeper to recently claim his bees died due to poisoning by PIRSA.

Loxton-based apiarist Ian Cass claims 12 of his beehives were killed due to adverse impacts from PIRSA's spraying program, aimed at eradicating fruit fly from the Riverland.

"I would point out in every case of extreme bee deaths in the Riverland area in the last couple of years that one common denominator was present: PIRSA operators spraying Naturalure," Mr Cass says in a letter to the editor in today's Murray Pioneer.

"As to the 'extensive investigations', in my case I am very certain PIRSA killed 12 of my hives and damaged 80 more hives.

"They visited the property to take photos six weeks after the deaths and never ever even contacted the property owner, so I don't call that 'extensive investigation'.

"When it first happened, I feel I was fobbed off on numerous occasions and told a senior manager would ring me, but they never did.

"(At) the Riverland Field Days, PIRSA asked me to get a bee sample, and then lost it for another five weeks, until it was finally tested and I was told they couldn't find spinosad, so therefore PIRSA was not responsible."

Barmera cricketers in pink for charity

MADISON EASTMOND

PINK will be the colour of play at Barmera's Memorial Oval this Saturday when the Pelicans take on the Monash Cricket Club, with the local team hoping to take the win and raise funds for the McGrath Foundation.

Taking part in the nationwide fundraiser for the McGrath Foundation and Breast Care nurses, Barmera Cricket Club is hosting a Pink Stumps Day at their game against Monash, from 12:30 to 5:30pm.

"The McGrath Foundation is an amazing cause, and being the first year of the club in 20 years it's good to have this as our biggest fundraiser and host a community event," Barmera Cricket Club president Kylan Beech said.

"As a club, that's what we're all about — we really want to give back."

Mr Beech said the initial response from the community to the Pink Stumps Day has been

"fantastic" with a lot buying tickets and providing donations for the auction and raffle to be held on game day.

"The community has been so generous already," he said.

"We also have an online link people can still donate to, which has been support a lot as well."

Though the weather report is predicting high heat temperatures for Saturday, Mr Beech said no matter what, the club will continue to raise money for their cause.

"We have our fingers crossed that we will be able to play," he said.

"But we will have a marquee for shade, and a fun day planned regardless."

To donate to the Pink Stumps fundraiser, visit the website: (www.pinkisthecolour.com.au/fundraisers/Barmeracrickclub/pink-stumps-day24).

For more information, follow the Barmera Cricket Club on Facebook.

Tim welcomes shadow police minister to Purnong

A COMMUNITY forum set to be held in Purnong will provide local residents with the opportunity to come together to share ideas, address safety challenges and discuss SAPOL services in the area.

Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone said community safety, police and correctional services Jack Batty would be special guest speaker for the event.

"As the local MP, I understand that community safety is a critical issue for Purnong and its surrounding areas," Mr Whetstone said. "Hosting (Mr Batty) in the region offers the Purnong community an opportunity to learn how we can enhance safety in our regional areas and continue to work with SAPOL to address our community's needs."

"The Forum will foster discussion as we work together to improve safety in the Purnong neighbourhood."

"Residents deserve the opportunity to express their opinions, ask questions around local policing and have those questions answered."

"That's why I'm organising this Community Safety Forum - to discuss changes to policing and address any concerns regarding community safety."

Mr Batty said the forum will examine where police services need to be evaluated.

"We've got a big shortfall of police officers across the state - and I'm really concerned about how this is impacting our regional communities," Mr Batty said.

"I'm coming to Purnong to hear directly from local residents how we can make the community safer."

The Community Safety Forum will commence at 10am Wednesday, 26 February at the Purnong District Hall.

The forum is a free event open to the public, and residents are encouraged to attend.

Mis-bee-haviour?

HUGH SCHUITMAKER

A WELL-known Loxton man is the second Riverland beekeeper to recently claim his bees died due to poisoning by PIRSA.

Loxton-based apiarist Ian Cass claims 12 of his beehives were killed due to adverse impacts from PIRSA's spraying program, aimed at eradicating fruit fly from the Riverland.

"I would point out in every case of extreme bee deaths in the Riverland area in the last couple of years that one common denominator was present: PIRSA operators spraying Naturalure," Mr Cass says in a letter to the editor in today's Murray Pioneer.

"As to the 'extensive investigations', in my case I am very certain PIRSA killed 12 of my hives and damaged 80 more hives.

"They visited the property to take photos six weeks after the deaths and never even contacted the property owner, so I don't call that 'extensive investigation'.

"When it first happened, I feel I was fobbed off on numerous occasions and told a senior manager

"(At) the Riverland Field Days, PIRSA asked me to get a bee sample, and then lost it for another five weeks, until it was finally tested and I was told they couldn't find spinosad, so therefore PIRSA was not responsible."

Mr Cass's letter follows similar claims made previously to the Pioneer by Paringa-based apiarist Robert Johnstone.

PIRSA declined to comment further on the matter when contacted by the Pioneer in regard to Mr Cass's claims.

Mr Cass claimed a number of his other hives were also lucky to survive a spraying event by PIRSA in 2024.

"PIRSA operators are very aware where I have 20 beehives at my home property," he says.

"They put in a 'don't spray order', then waited until mid-October 2024 and sprayed right against my fence line, in contravention of their own agreement and far less than the 50m rule.

"When I rang the head office in Loxton this was denied, until I told them I had photos of them doing this. They then told me it must have been a mistake... fortunately the wind was blowing away from my hives that day, so the bees survived."

Disappointment at mattress madness

SEBASTIAN CALDERON

THE manager of a Riverland op shop has urged locals to properly dispose of unwanted items, after 10 old mattresses were dumped on their property.

Loxcare Inc, which specialises in giving a second-life to used items, received an unpleasant surprise last week, when someone dumped 10 used mattresses in their shed, located on Pyap Street, at Loxton.

The community hub had to install signage stating "not to dump or leave used mattresses", without ringing the office first and getting an assessment.

Loxcare manager Lynn Hand said "what happened was on Monday night, someone left a bunch of old mattresses in our shed, so we came in the morning and all these were stacked in our property," Ms Hand said.

"There was 10, and we could see from the cameras who it was and how they did it.

"The person moved the portable sign away from his car, turned it around, unloaded the mattresses and put it back again.

"Unfortunately, we had to get rid of them straight away because of environmental health and safety.

"For us to accept mattresses and other items people want to donate, we need to make sure that's suitable and that they haven't got bugs or diseases.

"Mattresses can be between $30 to $60 dollars to dispose, so we've had people come up here and leave them on our facilities.

"You can imagine if we got bugs in there, they not only attack mattresses, they also attack our furniture, so we have to clean everything out. The last thing we want is an infestation."

"If a person wants to dispose of a mattress, they can give us a call and we will

Chris Langham, alongside Loxcare manager Lynn Hand, urge residents to call Loxcare facilities before dumping any unwanted rubbish in their Loxton hub. PHOTO: Sebastian Calderon send someone to look at it and assess its suitability, whether we can use it or they need to have someone from council collect it and pay the dumping fee," Ms Neale said.

"If we feel that they're suitable and don't pose a health risk, we will pick them up ourselves.

"The best way is to give us a call and ask, there are a lot of things we can put up for sale or donate to other organisations.

"We generally service the Loxton area, but if someone is terminally ill or has to a move in a hurry and they've got a lot of stuff there, we can go and have a look, if we've got room, we will take it"

Ms Hand said Loxcare volunteers are also helping to repurpose donated items.

"We want to provide an efficient service for the community and by repurposing items, we can give back lots of items," Ms Hand said.

"With the new regulations on life jackets, we are getting a bit more stuff from boaties, which we have tried to repurpose, but in the meantime, we are not accepting anymore of those until we can find a solution to where and how we can repurpose those in an ecological way.

"We send stuff to hospitals, mental wards and other organisations that repurpose certain items to be used with their patients and kids.

"We have hundreds of books that come through here too which are helping other people, or for example we have an elderly knitting group.

"We have a Loxcare group happening where elderly people are knitting stuff but can't afford to buy the implements.

"What we do is talk to them and tell them we are happy to give the items out of our sewing room for them to repurpose and create bags, rugs and other things for us. There is this lady that repurposes old jeans and skirts and creates bags.

"Those items are then sent to hospitals all around the state, and they are used for homeless people or psychiatric wards to help people suffering from dementia."

A dream ‘10 years in the making’

THE decade-long dream of a well-known Waikerie Football Club figure has been realised with the completion of a major new community facility.

The Waikerie Football Club (WFC) last weekend held a soft launch opening and chair auction event for the recently completed Waikerie Community Hub.

In a speech at the event, WFC Build Committee chair Brendan Sidhu said construction of the facility was “10 years in the making”.

“This is a great facility for our community,” Mr Sidhu said.

By
HUGH SCHUITEMAKER

editor@murraypioneer.com.au

“To everyone who has helped on the way this is a fantastic legacy you have all done for our community.

“They say it takes a village to bring up a child. It has taken much more to get this facility funded and built.”

Barker MP Tony Pasin said “this facility is a game changer for the community of Waikerie, adding to the already impressive collection of upgraded sporting facilities across the Riverland”.

“When I first became Barker MP, many sport and recreation facilities across the Riverland required significant investment and modernisation,” Mr Pasin said.

“I’ve worked with Local Government and sporting clubs across the Riverland to change that. The completion of this riverfront Community Hub, at Waikerie, is another piece of that puzzle.

“Sport and recreation facilities are about more than just encouraging active participation in sport, which is in itself important, but these are also community hubs, adding to the rich and vibrant sense of belonging that is intrinsic feature across the Riverland.

“This project acts to strengthen the community of Waikerie and surrounds making the Riverland an even better place to live, work and raise a family. This is a facility that I hope everyone in the Riverland is proud of, I know I certainly am.”

Mr Sidhu said funding from both state and federal governments, and sponsors of the club, had been crucial in ensuring the facility could be built.

Fruit fly experts urging Riverlanders to stop fruit sharing RIVERLAND residents in fruit fly outbreak areas are being urged to refrain from selling or sharing home-grown host fruits and vegetables.

PIRSA incident controller of the fruit fly emergency response Jason Size said this “crucial step is one of the most effective ways to control the spread of fruit fly”.

“For many in the Riverland, sharing home-grown goods with family and friends means a lot to many people – it’s a cherished tradition,” Mr Size said.

“However, to safeguard our community, it’s essential that we are more cautious during periods of outbreak – so if you want to share it, you’ll need to process it first to ensure that it’s safe.”

Mr Size encouraged residents to access the website (fruitfly.sa.gov.au) for guidance and recipes on safely processing host fruit and vegetables to make them safe to move.

“If your home-grown host fruit and veg are fresh, please don’t sell, share, or donate them if you’re in these affected areas,” he said.

“Our website offers a variety of recipes that allow you to enjoy and share your home-grown restricted produce safely – and using these recipes to process the food makes it possible to share delicious foods and meals with loved ones without compromising safety.”

Mr Size said ensuring the risk of new outbreaks was minimised needed to be a community priority.

“We’re committed to protecting our horticultural industry and the livelihoods of those who depend on it, which is why we need everyone to follow these guidelines during the outbreak,”

he said.

“It’s safe to move produce if it’s store-bought, as it’s undergone all the necessary treatments – but when it comes to home-grown, it’s something we have to keep at home to reduce the risks.”

In positive news, no new Queensland fruit fly outbreaks have been reported in the Riverland over the past two weeks, keeping the total number of outbreaks stable at 56.

PIRSA will continue to release sterile flies at Lindsay Point, Loxton, Murtho, New Residence, and Pyap, until 23 February.

Riverland vocational talent awarded

MADISON EASTMOND

A RIVERLAND electrician and veterinary nurse have been awarded the top honours at the Rotary Club of Berri's 2024 Riverland and Mallee Vocational Awards.

Presented with the honours last Friday night at the Berri Hotel, industrial electrician Michael Grosser received the trophy for Apprentice of the Year, while veterinary nurse Charlotte Zimmermann was named Trainee of the Year.

Set to complete his Certificate III in Electrotechnology in May, Mr Grosser said the prestigious acknowledgement, along with an industry award, was a "great reward after years of hard work".

"It was a bit of a shock, I wasn't expecting it at all," he said.

"It was a great feeling to be with my boss, my family, and my partner and all celebrate together.

"It's very rewarding to be recognised for all the hard work I have put in over the past four years of my apprenticeship — I am very grateful."

Completing his apprenticeship at Loxton business LecLogix Riverland & Mallee for the past four years, Mr Grosser said he was inspired by his dad to choose the trade as his career, with the industry also fulfilling his "need for a challenge".

"I looked to do a trade (initially) because I like learning things by doing them myself," he said.

"As an electrician there is so much to learn and it's constantly challenging.

"I really enjoy being caught off-guard and coming across something new, and then having to work through it and find a solution or get familiar with a new process — I often need to use a lot of problem solving and creative thinking.

"It's always very rewarding when you can solve the problem.

"My father was an industrial electrician, and seeing what he has achieved encouraged me to follow in his footsteps in that sector."

Though taking out the top award, Mr Grosser said he still has "plenty more to learn".

"I will definitely be staying in the Riverland and sticking with LecLogix," he said.

"There is so much room to grow, and I am surrounded by a Rotary Club of Berri president Bruce Richardson said that Trainee of the Year Charlotte Zimmermann and Apprentice of the Year Michael Grosser were examples of the "standard quality of the young people" vocationally training in Riverland. PHOTO: Madison Eastmond group of guys who have a wealth of knowledge which is exponential.

"It would be silly to move — I am in the right place."

Ms Zimmermann said winning Trainee of the Year was a "big accomplishment".

"I was ecstatic the whole night," she said.

"It's a great acknowledgment and reward for the past four years of study."

Though having completed her Certificate IV in Veterinary Nursing last year, Ms Zimmermann has been part of the Riverland Veterinary Practice for almost five years, first entering the clinic for school-based work experience before taking on her training.

"I took on the trade because I really wanted to be hands-on, and being able to put theory into practice has been very beneficial.

"I have always loved and wanted to take care of animals ever since I was a little girl, and now I can.

"It has been a great way for me to learn, upskill, and become the best nurse I can be — it's very fulfilling."

With major highlights including accompanying her employer to Coober Pedy, in which she worked with limited resources and space while providing care to both large and small animals, Ms Zimmermann said her vocational training had "been some of her best years".

"All of these opportunities and experiences have also helped me develop as a person with my confidence and the way I can now provide care to clients and patients," she said.

"Having such great support from the practice and my family has also been amazing."

Planning to stay at the Riverland Veterinary Clinic and continue to help the community with her skills, Ms Zimmermann said hopes to continue to study in industry areas such as anaesthetics or physiotherapy.

"I want to keep learning and continue to improve on my skills," she said.

Rotary Club of Berri president Bruce Richardson said the 2024 celebrations were "another excellent night" of the Vocational Awards.

"It's always a great opportunity to hear about what the finalists have been doing with their lives and their careers," Mr Richardson said.

"The longevity of the event is a testament to the enthusiasm and standard quality of the young people we have in the Riverland and training in the local area.

"Congratulations from the rotary club to the winners and a big thank you to everyone who supports our project each year."

Feedback on Goat Island renaming

RIVERLANDERS are able to provide feedback on a proposal to rename a local island after a notable Indigenous Australian cultural figure.

The State Government has announced, inside today's edition of The Murray Pioneer, feedback is currently being sought on a petition, put forward by the Ruby Hunter Foundation, to rename Goat Island — near Renmark — to Ruby Hunter Island.

Public consultation on the matter will remain open until 14 April.

Numerous letters to the editor both in support, and against, the renaming proposal have featured in recent editions of the Pioneer.

EDITORIAL

THE YEARS GO BY

LoxStory, Peter and Carla Magarey

Unwanted side effects?

A LETTER to the editor written by Loxton man Ian Cass – inside today's edition of The Murray Pioneer – adds an intriguing new chapter to the story surrounding PIRSA, Naturalure, and the deaths of bees.

Those Pioneer readers who have been following the previous claims made by Paringa-based beekeeper Robert Johnstone might be forgiven for thinking those may have been a lone man with a grudge seeking to point fingers – and direct blame – for what could have been the accidental death of his bees.

However, the addition of details now provided by Mr Cass may begin to sway people's perspectives.

While Mr Cass's letter raises a number of quite poignant questions, PIRSA's decision to avoid responding directly to the letter might raise some that are even bigger.

Considering the size of the Riverland region, the communication necessary between staff in the region and in Adelaide, and the number of properties to be inspected on a regular basis, how truly co-ordinated can the eradication effort be?

Those with a critical mind could probably find numerous instances where the organisation of those working in the public sphere has been less than optimal.

It is important to once again note that Mr Cass – similarly to Robbie Johnstone – is not seeking to blame any particular individual involved in the Riverland Fruit Fly response program, and understanding the economic impact that has impacted our communities since 2020, both are entirely supportive of the ongoing effort to eradicate the pest from the region.

This positive ongoing impact of our local eradication measures can be seen in yesterday's announcement that the Riverland had been without any new fruit fly outbreaks for the past fortnight.

While many in the community would have seen dozens of these announcements made since 2020, each fortnight the region can go without recording new outbreaks is further evidence the final goal of eradication is possible.

It is a battle that cannot be given up on, however, both Mr Cass and Mr Johnstone have seen their own livelihoods economically impacted due to the deaths of thousands of their bees, and would also say they are seeking nothing more than what, in their eyes, would be considered as just compensation.

This leaves several key points that need to be considered. Does there need to be further evaluation on the effects of bees interacting with Naturalure? Does PIRSA need to investigate more stringent conditions around where they spray?

Hopefully a satisfactory outcome can be reached without any further deaths to bees, accidental or not.

He served well. Though born into farm life with fences all round, Don Woon was not fenced-in through his life's activities and achievements. Growing up in Pyap West, an isolated but active Northern Mallee community, he was diligent and astute in serving local agencies and sporting clubs. Don attended Adelaide High School and Roseworthy Ag College. With the outbreak of WWII, he enlisted and served in RAF No. 15 Squadron as wireless operator in Lancaster bombers that operated from Mildenhall, England. From there he completed a tour of 31 challenging operations. At war's-end he returned to farm at Pyap West. He was an elected member of Loxton District Council from 1960 to 1970, president Pata/Loxton sub-branch of the Wheat and Woolgrowers Association, and zone president in 1970; and Pata Water Scheme chairman. Don was much involved in the Loxton RSL Sub-branch and in Legacy, but not as heavily as was he in cricket administration. He was for a time president of the Loxton RSL Sub-branch and president and secretary of Legacy Riverland. In 1983, Don and wife Eileen moved from farming at Pyap West to a career with MLC Insurance. For some time after Eileen's death in 2009, Don continued in Loxton until moving to Adelaide nearer to their three daughters. Don died in 2013, aged 89, leaving a legacy of progress and development. LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Opinions expressed in Letters to the Editor are those of the writers, and not those of the Murray Pioneer.

Reply to no conclusive evidence

PIRSA STATES there is "no conclusive evidence" bee poisoning (Murray Pioneer, 5/2/25) yet in 2020, PIRSA paid two beekeepers compensation for the loss of beehives after they were poisoned by PIRSA.

Plus we have the documentation from PIRSA itself, including the payment details.

In the Pioneer article, PIRSA states after extensive investigations it has found no evidence, and in reply the public need to know that the chemical spinosad, which is the active ingredient in Naturalure – the main chemical being used by PIRSA – has a very short half-life.

And we have been told that it isn't able to be detected in bee samples as it simply degrades before the sample can be tested.

This does not mean it was not the killer, it simply means it is almost impossible to prove that PIRSA was responsible.

I would point out in every case of extreme bee deaths in the Riverland area in the last couple of years that I believe one common denominator was present: PIRSA operators spraying Naturalure.

Let us look at the chemical spinosad, which PIRSA points out is organic and safe.

I would like to point out in reply to that statement that snake venom is organic, and spinosad is about as lethal to bees as a human getting a brown snake bite.

As to the extensive investigations, in my case I am very certain PIRSA killed 12 of my hives and damaged 80 more hives. They visited the property to take photos six weeks after the deaths and never even contacted the property owner. So, I don't call that 'extensive investigation'.

When it first happened, I feel I was fobbed off on numerous occasions and was told a senior manager would ring me, but they never did.

After being what I feel was confronted at the Riverland Field Days, PIRSA asked me to get a bee sample, and then lost it for another five weeks, until it was finally tested and I was told they couldn't find spinosad, so therefore PIRSA was not responsible.

I was never even given a copy of the lab report and have been since told by PIRSA that it could have been anything that killed my bees. I asked "what do they suggest, as I have never had any other bee deaths like that?"

They shrugged their shoulders.

PIRSA states they do everything according to the label. In July 2023, in my case, PIRSA sprayed black box trees covered in flowers, which my bees were working at the time, on the river flats, at Gurra, after the 2022 flood. This is a complete disregard to the label.

PIRSA has stated to beekeepers that 50m is a completely safe distance to spray a lethal insecticide away from beehives, yet the label states to be careful of drift and despite PIRSA saying this is safe, I don't know of a farmer or blockie who would say 50m is a safe distance to use a lethal chemical in very windy conditions.

I have personally seen PIRSA operators using Naturalure in very windy conditions, yet in my view they don't care as it isn't their back pockets hurt by the damage of this very dangerous insecticide. Their operators are told how safe this chemical is.

PIRSA operators are very aware where I have 20 beehives at my home property. They put in a 'don't spray order', then waited until mid-October 2024 and sprayed right against my fence line, in contravention of their own agreement and far less than the 50m rule.

When I rang the head office in Loxton this was denied, until I told them I had photos of them doing this. They then told me it must have been a mistake. I am the one who loses if they make a mistake, but fortunately the wind was blowing away from my hives that day, so the bees survived.

I believe this program has had complaints by numerous beekeepers, and several homes who have lost a dog, guinea pigs and poultry.

Yet every time, guess what? It wasn't PIRSA.

I question their statement at the start of "no conclusive proof" of bee poisoning. I think this is very conclusive.

Say it ain't so, Albo

HAVING been a qualified electronics technician for over 50 years, I could not help but follow what I think is the ongoing farce imposed upon the Australian people by the incumbent federal government, on the advice of their relevant, so-called expert telcos.

Australia is one of the first countries to shut down both 2G and 3G mobile services – others have not done it yet for good reasons.

Numerous devices rely on either 2G or 3G. Most countries that have shut down 3G have at least kept 2G (GSM) as a back-up. The few exceptions are Singapore (since the end of 2021), and most carriers in the USA no longer have 2G or 3G networks.

Virtually all other countries retain one or the other, for now. Some have discussed shutting them down in future, but most don't have a specific date yet. One exception is Japan, where major carriers plan to end 3G service by March 2026.

Another reason to keep one or the other is that 4G coverage is generally not as good in remote areas, so it's good to have 2G/3G to fall back on if you're in an area with poor 4G coverage – something that would seem to be smart in a large country like Australia, with people living in remote areas.

However, I guess our politicians are smarter than their peers overseas and can get away with doing this without consequences – yeah right.

Remember NBN, who removed landlines and forced many people to switch to 3G for services like back-to-base house alarms, asset tracking and so on. That was before 4G, so people who were forced to replace those devices about 10 years ago are being, or have been, forced to replace them yet again,

That's not all. 4G is not really a proper standard and many phones implement it (VoLTE) differently. That means that some 4G/5G phones fall back on 3G to make emergency calls.

Without a 3G network, they are therefore unable to call 000.

It gets worse. This government's 'solution' is to force all the carriers to block all phones from their network if they can't be 100 per cent sure they are able to call 000 without the 3G networks. This has resulted in many phones being blocked that do support 4G and can call 000, simply because it's so difficult to create a comprehensive list of all supported devices.

It is my understanding some of these blocked devices are relatively new 5G smartphones. The phrase 'an absolute chaos' is probably the best way to describe this incredible conundrum. Over 500,000 active devices have been blocked from our networks due to this debacle, most of which are now basically e-waste.

Possibly in excess of 1 million devices are affected, and that's ignoring those that have already been replaced due to the then approaching 3G shutdown. Discarding many millions of otherwise functional devices can't be good for the environment, something I think our government pretends to care about.

It's also a big waste of money. Some of these devices cost upwards of $1000, and were perfectly functional before they were made redundant. Some, like the 3G devices integrated into some vehicles, have no obvious upgrade path.

A cynical person could say that the telcos must have lobbied for this situation, because it now means that they essentially have a monopoly on selling mobile devices in Australia. After all, not only can they block 'grey market' phones, they are legally required to do so.

How long will these 4G-enabled phones be useful?

Will the 4G network be switched off in the near future, forcing us to replace them all again? It would not surprise me

Accommodation facilities on the MRQ are set to open next weekend, according to owner Donna Neale. PHOTO: Sebastian Calderon

MRQ accommodation back open this weekend

SEBASTIAN CALDERON

AFTER her arrival at Loxton, one of the Riverland's most iconic river boats is set to open its doors for locals and tourists seeking new accommodation options.

Murray River Queen (MRQ) owner – and Loxton local – Donna Neale said the opening of accommodation facilities was set for this weekend.

“The rooms are all being partially or fully renovated because we want to do things right,” Ms Neale said.

“We won't have the food and beverages since the café still needs council approval, but at least people can start coming in and enjoy the scenery and the facilities.

There's more rooms coming in a few weeks-times.”

The MRQ moved to its permanent home in Loxton in November of 2024, after being moored in Renmark since 2017.

“I'd expect everything to be ready by the end of the first quarter,” Ms Neale said.

“It's all up on our website so people can book their accommodation.

“We are looking at possibly doing a open day as well, so people that want to get on the MRQ, have a look around and can check out the beautiful views and enjoy nature for a day.

River recovery efforts continue

MADISON EASTMOND

THE Murraylands and Riverland Landscape Board (MRLB) has been granted almost $1m to support efforts to stop the local flow and growth of pests and weeds post-2022-23 flood.

The MRLB River to Recovery Program has been granted $998,733, from a $4.76m State Government initiative to aid a number of landscape projects across the region as part of the 2024-25 round of the Landscape Priorities Fund.

“Our state's landscape boards are often the organisations which can make impactful on-ground changes across both public and private land in their regions,” Minister for Climate, Environment and Water Susan Close said.

“These funds help the boards to undertake projects that could otherwise be beyond their usual resourcing.

“All of the work that is funded through this program is vital for helping to protect our precious natural environment and biodiversity.”

Stopping the increase of post-2022-23 flood pests in the area MRLB sustainable landscapes manager Renata Rix said the funding is an investment to “do extra work the board are not normally able to complete”.

“The funding has allowed extra capacity and dollars to do pest control work across flood-affected areas,” Ms Rix said.

“The floods pushed a lot of weed seed into areas further afield than normal, while also giving everything a good drink.

“The proliferation of weeds has led to an increase of rabbits, which also eat native growth (that) has thrived post-flood.

“The main goal of this project is to help the community get on top of weed control and pest issues for their relevant land usage — be that recreational, environmental, or industry — as well as capitalising on the environmental positives that did come from the flood, such as the regeneration of native plants.

“Local government has been under the pump with post-flood impacts to their budget, having to account for a lot of infrastructure repair.

“Pests are always a priority for us, so it's great to be able to manage this issue for the community — if left unmanaged, we would lose the benefit of the flood.”

Injured motorcyclist airlifted to hospital

A MOTORCYCLIST who was injured in a crash at Taylorville, north of Waikerie, had to be airlifted to hospital recently after receiving serious but non-life-threatening injuries.

Police said at 6.30pm, on Monday 10 February, emergency services were called to Goyder Highway after reports of a crash between a Mitsubishi SUV and a motorbike.

A police spokesperson said the man riding the motorcycle was a 20-year-old, from Taylorville.

A police spokesperson said the driver of the car, a 53-year-old Taylorville woman, was assessed at the scene but was “thankfully not injured”.

Police investigations are continuing.

Pasin not convinced by banking agreement

HUGH SCHUITEMAKER

FURTHER support measures are needed to ensure further closures to Riverland bank branches are avoided, according to the region's Federal MP.

The Federal Government last week announced an agreement with banks to "ensure banking services remain available in the regions".

Barker MP Tony Pasin said sustaining local bank branches was crucial for regional communities.

"Face-to-face banking services add to the vibrancy of regional towns," Mr Pasin said.

"The decision to close branches is extremely disappointing not only for customers, but for the whole community who feel a sense of abandonment when banks pack up and leave town.

"In a period of record profitability for the Australian banking sector, the decision to withdraw services from regional Australia is unconsumable. The (Commonwealth Bank of Australia) has just reported a half-year cash profit well above expectations... but the Labor Government thinks they can fix the issue of regional banking closures by shifting banking services onto Australia Post licenced post offices.

"I don't have a problem with this model where there is no other option, so long as the banks are paying a reasonable rates per transaction.

"However, in regional centres where branches are still required by the community, I believe banks should be reinvesting some of these record profits to maintaining regional bank branches, employing locals delivering face-to-face service."

Federal Government data shows 36 per cent of bank branches in regional Australia have closed since 2017.

A statement on the matter said the Federal Government was "standing up for regional Australians, helping to secure the banking services they need and deserve".

"More than banking, this is about keeping regional communities, that contribute so much to our national economy, connected and thriving," the statement read.

"People are increasingly using digital banking and payment methods, but face-to-face services remain essential, particularly for people and small businesses in regional areas, where digital alternatives may not always be accessible or meet their needs."

The package of commitments from the banks includes:

- ❑ A moratorium on branch closures for two-and-a-half years: NAB has committed to a new moratorium on regional branch closures, with CBA and Westpac extending their existing moratoriums. These commitments build on the conditions imposed by the government on ANZ and Suncorp and ensure no regional branch closures by these banks before 31 July 2027.
- ❑ New Bank@Post agreements: The government has asked the banking sector to increase its commitment to, and investment in, regional banking.

The Fringe is back on the river

MADISON EASTMOND

THE 2025 River Fringe will return to the Loxton Waikerie district this week, with a number of regional and local artists being showcased for the Riverland community to enjoy.

Running parallel to the Adelaide Fringe, the festival is set to celebrate the creative spirit and talent of the Riverland with a lineup of performances, workshops, exhibitions, and interactive activities for all ages from 21 February to 23 March.

“The River Fringe continues to be an incredible platform for artists and performers from all over the region, and this year’s program is packed with something for everyone,” Loxton Waikerie Mayor Trevor Norton said.

“Whether you’re an art enthusiast, a family looking for fun, or someone simply wanting to enjoy the Riverland’s unique charm, River Fringe 2025 is an event you won’t want to miss.

“We look forward to welcoming visitors from near and far to experience the magic of the Riverland’s creative community.”

Running a Loxton tarot card-making workshop on 24 February, and a glass painting session on 15 and 16 March, along with a Waikerie free polymer clay kid’s activity on 26 and 27 of February, Monash artist Karl Raams said they “were super excited to run art workshops at a bigger scale”.

“This is my first time being part of the River Fringe,” Karl said.

“We have so many talented artists and so many groups that are starting to push and build what we consider possible in the Riverland.

“Fringe is meant to push the boundaries, and sometimes in the Riverland, pushing the boundaries is just hosting and getting an art workshop running.

“It’s with the support of our councils that it’s possible to be part of such a great program and to host such great things locally.

“It’s exciting to be part of something that feels like it is growing each year and is just going to get bigger and better.”

While some events will be ticketed, the festival also includes a number of free activities.

Five reasons Riverland graduates recommend TAFE SA for 2025

THINKING about taking the next step in your education or career? For Riverland locals, TAFE SA is more than just a training provider – it's a launchpad for success.

Whether you're fresh out of school, changing careers, or looking to upskill, here are five compelling reasons why Riverland graduates like Callum and Moneika are singing TAFE SA's praises.

1. Real-world experience, right from the start

For Riverland locals like Callum and Moneika, their careers began with hands-on learning at TAFE SA's Berri campus. Callum, now sous chef at the Loxton Hotel, started his journey midway through a Certificate II in Commercial Cookery completed during his high school years. Thanks to connections he made with his lecturer, he gained real-world experience and landed a job at the Loxton Hotel.

"Gary, my first lecturer, reached out to the head chef, and after a couple of trial shifts, I landed the job," Callum said.

Similarly, Moneika's leap of faith into a Certificate III in Beauty Services transformed her career path. After six years in hospitality, she decided to pursue her passion for beauty therapy.

"TAFE SA helped me gain the skills and confidence I needed to succeed," Moneika says.

TAFE SA's focus on practical skills and industry partnerships means you're not just learning – you're doing. Whether it's a school-based apprenticeship or full-time placement, TAFE SA helps you hit the ground running.

2. Supportive mentors who go the extra mile

One thing graduates highlight is the outstanding support from TAFE SA lecturers. "Gary took me under his wing early on and gave me so much one-on-one advice," Callum said.

This supportive environment is echoed by Moneika, who credits her lecturers with teaching her real-life resilience.

"One lecturer was particularly amazing—so supportive and kind. She went above and beyond to prepare us for the real world," Moneika said.

TAFE SA lecturers are passionate about their students' success, offering encouragement and tailored advice to help you reach your goals.

3. Flexible learning options to fit your life

Life doesn't stop when you start studying, and TAFE SA understands that. Callum managed to juggle year 12 studies, TAFE SA lessons, and up to 40 hours of work per week during his apprenticeship. Moneika also benefited from flexible learning arrangements, allowing her to balance coursework with work commitments and volunteering.

Whether you're studying full-time, part-time, or through an apprenticeship, TAFE SA's flexible options mean you can make education work for you.

4. Recognition that opens doors

TAFE SA graduates don't just gain qualifications – they gain recognition. Callum's hard work earned him multiple awards, including Apprentice of the Year for the Riverland.

"Those awards gave me a bit of a reputation locally," he said. "I think a lot of people know my face now, and I've been able to use that as a foundation for myself in Riverland hospitality."

For Moneika, her TAFE SA journey also opened doors to new opportunities and connections within the Riverland community.

"I've connected with so many people, and it's been amazing to share my story and inspire others to give beauty therapy a try," she said.

5. Opportunities to grow and give back

Both Callum and Moneika have plans to build on their success. Callum is eyeing advanced qualifications in patisserie, butchery, and management, while Moneika sees herself expanding her expertise through short courses or a diploma.

TAFE SA graduates often find themselves contributing to their communities in meaningful ways. From sourcing local produce to helping clients feel their best, graduates like Callum and Moneika are making a difference to the Riverland community.

Ready to start your own success story?

Callum sums it up best, saying "just give it a go".

"Whether it's for your career or for fun – you've got nothing to lose and everything to gain," he said.

Pasin hears Riverland concerns

HUGH SCHUITMAKER

RIVERLANDERS met with the region's Federal MP last weekend to discuss difficulties surrounding the cost of living, and the ongoing sustainability of local primary production.

Barker MP Tony Pasin last Saturday held a listening post session at Renmark Central Plaza.

Mr Pasin said issues raised by locals focused on the current cost-of-living crisis, and uncertainty regarding water policies.

"We've had people raising issues surrounding mobile phone reception, and the state of the road network, with a lot of people raising issues generally, and more specifically," Mr Pasin said.

"There was an issue (raised) around it being more and more difficult to own and rent property. One lady was very concerned about the attitude where government makes really strict rules regarding what a landlord can, or can't do.

"A number of people were concerned about the cost-of-living, and about housing prices.

"Invariably in the Riverland we have concerns around water licencing, and the future of the Murray-Darling Basin... there are always interesting ideas about how to manage the challenges surrounding water licencing."

Mr Pasin said voicing the concerns of Riverland communities at the Federal Government level was an ongoing priority.

"I value the views of people who live in the electorate," he said.

"I make a huge effort to be available at shows, field days, and community events. Listening posts are just another part of that architecture."

The below is a copy of a speech given by BARKER MP TONY PASIN in Parliament regarding the need to deliver the Truro Bypass project...

Still waiting for safety?

IN 2021, the former coalition government committed to funding the first step of the Greater Adelaide Freight Bypass.

Under the former state Liberal and Coalition Government South Australia was put on a trajectory to improve productivity and safety by building the Truro freight route, while a number of strategic planning and business cases got underway towards developing a high-productivity freight network.

Since 2022, those opposite have cut, cancelled or delayed almost $30bn in infrastructure funding, including funding for the critical Truro freight route, just months before shovels were set to hit the ground.

For my community in Barker, the Truro freight route is incredibly important. It's important for safety along the Sturt Highway corridor and instrumental in working towards the duplication of the Sturt Highway, which carries vehicles between New South Wales and Adelaide, or further west to Perth. This work at Truro is also vital for plans to get heavy vehicles off the South Eastern Freeway and out of the suburbs of Adelaide.

If we want to grow this nation's economy, improve productivity and safety on our freight routes, and address the road safety crisis that is unfolding under Labor, we need those opposite to stop playing politics with roads. Those opposite have wasted a full term in government with no plans for South Australia's wider freight network.

All I've seen from those opposite over two-and-a-half years is putting votes in front of road safety and road investment decisions.

One Nation candidate visiting Riverland

Restoring balance to the Murray-Darling Basin Plan and delivering tax and cost-of-living relief will be the focus of a visit to the Riverland by One Nation's lead Senate candidate for South Australia, Jennifer Game.

Ms Game, who has been a senior adviser to Senator Pauline Hanson for eight years, will meet with key stakeholders in the Riverland this weekend as well as speak at events for the public.

"One Nation is taking a suite of policies to the Federal election aimed at putting more money in Australians' pockets," she said.

"We'll slash government waste, pay down Federal debt and invest in Australia's future.

"I'm also keen to meet with local irrigators and processors during the weekend and talk about One Nation's policy to restore balance to the Basin Plan.

"Senator Pauline Hanson chose the Riverland as the place to announce our water policy last year. This is because Riverland irrigators are the best in the Basin when it comes to water efficiency.

"Our policy is to reintroduce the 1500GL cap on buybacks, restore the socio-economic test for the additional 450GL, and reduce the northern Basin recovery target back to 320GL. Riverland irrigators have given up almost a third of their productive water to the Basin Plan since 2009. Enough is enough. Riverland growers should not have to give up another drop of water.

"Riverland water efficiency comes at a cost of high electricity costs. One Nation's policy to slash electricity bills by 20 per cent – by changing National Electricity Market (NEM) rules to favour lower-cost generation like gas and coal – should have a significant downward effect on the costs borne by Riverland irrigators."

Ms Game said One Nation's signature election policy would slash $90bn from wasteful government spending, put $40bn more in Australians' pockets, pay down Federal government debt and invest in nation-building infrastructure to help Australia secure the economic opportunities of the 21st century.

"We'll abolish the Department of Climate Change and related agencies and programs, audit indigenous spending and abolish the National Indigenous Australians Agency, cut foreign aid and withdraw Australia's participation in useless international organisations like the International Criminal Court, World Health Organisation and the United Nations," she said.

"Our plan is about reducing the cost of living. We're abolishing the excise on alcohol served at hospitality venues, and freezing indexation on all alcohol. We're halving the fuel excise to 26 cents per litre, providing relief for motorists and at the supermarket.

"We will allow couples with dependent children to split incomes and file joint tax returns – saving thousands of dollars in tax. We'll let aged and veteran pensioners earn as much as they want without their pension being affected.

"We will also crack down on fraud and boost Medicare funding to improve bulk-billing rates and help prevent the exodus of GPs from the system.

"I'll be talking about these and other policies that One Nation has released in recent weeks, but I'm looking forward to visiting the Riverland primarily to meet people and talk about the issues which matter to them."

Ms Game will appear at the Barmera Golf Club, on Friday, from 6pm, and at Bassham Wines, on Sunday, from 11.30am.

Concept planning for Loxton and Waikerie pool upgrades

TWO Riverland community assets need vital infrastructure upgrades in order to meet current compliance standards aiming to provide local users with state-of-the-art facilities.

The District Council of Loxton Waikerie has launched a concept planning and design project to guide the potential redevelopment and upgrades of the Loxton and Waikerie community pools.

Council appointed two consultants, DesignInc and insideEDGE Sport and Leisure Planning, to work with the local community in developing of future revitalisation plans.

The project will aim to create a close collaboration between the consultants, the council, and the community to explore different options to enhance the pool complexes.

Loxton Waikerie Council Mayor Trevor Norton said "our 2024-25 community engagement indicated that swimming pool upgrades were the community's number-one priority for projects in the coming financial years".

"We are excited to take the next step in making these much-needed upgrades a reality and are eager to hear from the community to ensure we deliver pool facilities that truly meet everyone's needs," Mr Norton said.

Prior to developing concept plans, council invited the local community through one of two surveys, specific to each pool, allowing current pool users and non-users to provide input on the future direction of the pools, including suggestions for potential upgrades and improvements.

The feedback plays a key role in shaping the final concept plans, with the consultation period to conclude at 5pm, on Monday 10 March.

All community members can provide feedback

online via the website (www.engagement.lwdc.sa.gov.au) or in person at one of two community pop-up sessions scheduled for 3 and 4 March (specific times will be published in The Murray Pioneer when announced).

Hard copies of the surveys will also be available at the Loxton council office and both the Loxton and Waikerie libraries.

Updated evacuation plans and smoke alarms and can save your life

SEBASTIAN CALDERON

SUMMER fires are a risk for several regions across the state, including the Riverland, and protecting homes and nearby areas has to be a priority for everyone, according to a safety expert.

In just two to three minutes, a small fire can engulf a room, leaving little time to escape, yet nearly half (49 per cent) of Australian homes impacted by fires in 2024, either had no working smoke alarms or none installed.

Brooks Australia SA/NT specifications manager Bec Golding spoke about the importance of self-evacuation plans and the correct installation and usage of smoke alarms.

"Remote and rural communities face unique challenges due to their geographic isolation and this often makes it harder for emergency services to respond quickly," Ms Golding said.

"Fire seasons are on the horizon, which means bushfire risks could escalate, and being proactive now can save lives later.

"Residents must be proactive in understanding the steps they need to take to protect themselves and their families, as quick action is critical and every minute counts.

"We know that regional Australians have faced significant challenges at the start of the year with bushfires and other natural disasters, but it's critical to stay vigilant as these risks don't diminish quickly."

Ms Golding said correctly installed smoke alarms can provide an important level of protection for residents in regional areas.

"Smoke alarms help emergency services locate people in danger, and this is especially important in rural and regional areas where help can be far away," she said.

"Nearly half of Australian homes impacted by fires during 2024 had no working smoke alarms or none at all."

Residents in areas which are prone to fires during summer can be prepared and take small actions when a fire occurs.

The dangers exist beyond house fires, with smoke alarms still playing a critical role in bushfire emergencies, helping emergency services locate and evacuate people in danger and assist in containing fires by providing early alerts.

Brooks Australia SA/NT specifications manager Bec Golding. PHOTO: supplied

While firefighters are invaluable in protecting communities during natural disasters, emergency services often need to travel considerable distances to respond to house fires in rural and regional areas.

"There are a few precautions people can take," Ms Golding said.

- These include:
- Regularly reviewing and updating your emergency plan or escape plan.
 - Staying informed with local fire danger ratings and keeping track of current conditions.
 - Keeping your home clear of fire hazards, including dry vegetation, debris, and flammable materials.
 - Testing your smoke alarm monthly to ensure it's working, as this is your first line of alert in dangerous situations.
 - If a fire is reported, immediately follow your emergency plan and evacuate if necessary.
 - Staying connected to emergency services for up-to-date alerts and instructions, and then making sure your family members are accounted for and safe.
 - Assist anyone who may need help evacuating and if you're unable to evacuate, find a safe shelter and call emergency services.

Warning to avoid increasing romance scams

RIVERLANDERS seeking romance online and through social media have been warned to look out for scammers seeking financial gain.

Romance scams are very common these days, with scammers trying to influence their targets with love and affection and often coming up with elaborate stories about why they need money urgently, with the majority of victims contacted via social media.

Following last Friday's Valentine's Day, the State Government statistics show more than $1.7m was lost to romance scams in 176 reports made to Scamwatch from South Australians, however, many of these scams are often underreported.

Scammers may also convince people to take out money for a fake investment, often claiming it's in cryptocurrency.

Minister for Consumer and Business Affairs Andrea Michaels said "looking for love online can make you vulnerable and unfortunately, this is what scammers look for as they seek to gain your trust".

"Take things slowly when you meet new people online," Ms Michaels said.

"Ask lots of questions and watch for things that don't add up."

"If they ask you for money, you should stop contact straight away and get support.

"Never send money, card or bank details, personal information or identity documents to someone you only know online, no matter how long you've been messaging."

Practical steps people can take to protect themselves include:

- Do a reverse-image search on Google or TinEye. This can help determine if their profile image is legitimate.
- Arrange to meet in person in a safe place, or ask to speak via video. If they can't, it's a warning sign.
- Watch out for any request to send them money through methods such as money order, wire transfer, international funds transfer, pre-loaded cards, or electronic currency, like bitcoin.
- If you are the victim of a scam, it is difficult to recover money sent through these methods.
- If you think you have been scammed, contact your bank or financial institution as soon as possible.

For more information about romance scams, visit the Consumer and Business Affairs website (www.cbs.sa.gov.au/romance-scams) and to report a scam, visit the ScamWatach website (www.scamwatch.gov.au/report-a-scam).

New AED grants program open for applications

RIVERLAND councils, sports clubs and community groups have one last opportunity to apply for grants up to $1000 for eligible buildings or facilities, under the South Australian AED Grants Program.

This new round of the Automated External Defibrillators (AED) Grants Program is providing grants to assist eligible not-for-profit community and sporting organisations with the cost of purchasing AEDs and meeting the requirements of the Automated External Defibrillators (Public Access) Act 2022 (the Act).

LGA hosted a webinar on defibrillator legislation and grant opportunities on 17 February, where questions regarding the necessary requirements to apply for the state funding and the funding available were answered.

Councils who have already applied for the last grant round are eligible to apply again for other buildings, with applications closing 30 April.

For more information, visit the website (www.preventivehealthsa.smartygrants.com.au/LocalGovernment2).

Commemorations for National Apology Day

MADISON EASTMOND

THE Riverland community gathered to commemorate National Apology Day last week, with the ceremony marking the 17th anniversary of former Prime Minister Kevin Rudd's apology to Australian Indigenous communities and the Stolen Generations.

Held at the Berri Senior Citizens Hall last Thursday, Riverland community members and students came together to honour, acknowledge, and remember the Stolen Generations of Indigenous peoples who suffered under past government policies of forced child removal and assimilation.

"Today is a significant day for our aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities, as well as the wider Riverland community," organiser Sam Mitchell said.

"Moments like this create awareness and understanding about Apology Day, as well as the impact of past government policies on our communities."

Hosting an Apology Day commemoration in the Riverland for the past six years, Mr Mitchell said each year "has gotten a bigger and better response" from the local community.

"The attendance grows each year," he said.

"We always try to add something to the (commemoration) each year as well.

"This year we had the student's light candles for the Stolen Generations.

"I hope it will just continue to grow."

Visiting Riverland schools this past month to provide educational sessions prior to Apology Day, Mr Mitchell said sharing the history of the Stolen Generations with local students makes him feel "like (he) is making a real difference".

"Having the opportunity to be welcomed into the schools, and provide those sessions was great," he said.

"Sometimes we can get difficult responses from adults, not understanding the need for the apology, but the kids always respond so well, and with such empathy.

"I hope making these connections and sharing the history can provide an understanding that will spread throughout the community."

Local JPs set to hear from SA sheriff

THE next meeting of the Riverland Justices Group will be held today, at the Cobdogla Club, at 6pm. Justices, partners, friends and folk thinking of becoming a JP are welcome to attend.

Please note the 6pm time as due to the club formalities interrupting our meeting, chairman Bert Haslam said the group will have to order their meal and be ready for the guest speaker at 6.30pm with our meal being served at 7pm. Our meeting attendees can order their meal off the board, he said.

“Our guest speaker is the sheriff of South Australia Leslie Turner, and we are looking forward to hearing his story as he’s had an amazing life.”

Sheriff Leslie Turner was born and educated in London. After graduating he worked in private industry at Case International Agriculture Equipment UK.

He then became a member of the Metro Police Force in London prior to shifting to SA in 2011 to take up positions in Correctional Services, Department of Human Services (Youth Justice) and currently sheriff of SA.

Mr Haslam urged Riverland Justices Group members and friends to come and hear what Mr Turner has to say, as it is rare we hear anything about our Court system.

Please contact Secretary Jacque by phone or text 0438 839 691 your attendance or apology for the meeting at the Cobdogla Club asap.

Travel vaccinations now at local pharmacies

RIVERLANDERS heading overseas can now have trained community pharmacists assess them with vaccination requirements based on their destination and administer recommended vaccinations for preventable diseases such as hepatitis A and B and typhoid.

Travellers heading overseas can now receive their travel vaccinations at a local pharmacy through new regulations introduced by the State Government, under the pharmacy travel vaccination service, which complements other services already available through health providers.

The recent changes follow an extensive consultation process and further expand the scope of practice for community pharmacists, who can already administer a range of vaccines without a prescription.

Minister for Health and Wellbeing Chris Picton said “every South Australian should be able to access the treatment they need, when they need it, which is why expanding our state’s access-sibility to health care is so important”.

“By further expanding pharmacists’ scope of practice, we are empowering our highly trained pharmacists to vaccinate even more South Australians to provide increased protection against preventable disease,” Mr Picton said.

“Pharmacies are the ideal location to provide travel vaccination services, as they are well distributed across South Australia, including in regional areas, and many are open for extended hours or operate seven days a week.”

Travellers are encouraged to access their travel vaccinations six-to-12 weeks before they leave Australia, to ensure they have time to develop full immunity, with some vaccines requiring several doses to achieve the necessary protection.

Anyone intending to use the new service can call their local pharmacy or check online to locate a participating site and book in.

There are also certain requirements for vaccines such as Yellow Fever, so it is recommended to speak to a GP or pharmacist for more information.

SA family cost-of-living relief

THE State Government is expanding support measures to address the cost of living for Riverland families as children return to school.

As more than 193,000 South Australia children head into classrooms across the state last month, Premier Peter Malinauskas outlined targeted assistance available to manage the pressures of the cost of living for families.

All families with children at public schools and who are required to pay the materials and services charge will benefit from a discount of $200 per child in 2025.

The prescribed component of the annual materials and services charge, which covers the cost of essential items and services used or consumed by a student for the school year, is this year set at $300 for each primary student, and $396 for each secondary student.

Students from reception to year 9 are also now eligible to receive double the support through two $100 Sports Vouchers per calendar year. For the first time, music lessons and active recreation will also be incorporated.

Applications are now open for low-income families who qualify for a School Card – and this year the threshold has increased by 4.5 per cent.

A family with a combined gross income of lower than $74,189 can qualify for the School Card, which means they will be unrequired to pay a materials and services charge, and can also qualify for help with expenses such as uniforms, camp and excursion costs.

If families are not eligible for the School Card, they should reach out to their school, which can help with assistance such as payment options and plans.

Additionally, families will be provided with assistance through a series of pilot programs, financial rebates and targeted support during the 2025 school year.

More than 340 schools across the state have registered to participate in the School Device program.

Families on School Card, with students in years 7 and 10 attending one of the participating schools, will receive free devices to support their studies.

There are also bulk purchasing discounts for other families.

Families without reliable home internet can also request free internet from the department at any time throughout the school year.

In Terms 1 and 2 the Department for Education is running a trial program for funding to be provided to year 7 country school card students to support their attendance on school camps and excursions.

Hundreds of schools will also be providing breakfast programs for students in need.

While each school decides about using a breakfast program, and how often, there has been an increase in the number of days of operation, with 71 per cent of sites that run a breakfast program offering these five days per week in 2024, compared to 56 per cent at the end of 2023.

“A good education is the key to every child’s future, regardless of their ability or circumstances,” Mr Malinauskas said.

“The assistance we’re providing across a range of programs will hopefully make it easier for families with school-age children.

“Back to school can sometimes be a difficult time for families, with parents juggling a range of expenses to prepare their children for the new school year.

“These measures provide a practical way to give parents some relief from some of those financial pressures.”

“ A good education is the key to every child’s future... ”

Celebrate the Riverland’s best bar staff

THE bartender might be just about every Riverlander’s favourite person on a night out.

Bartenders are able to keep people well supplied with tasty beverages – most likely those of an alcoholic variety – at any restaurant, club or pub they happen to visit. More than just serving drinks though, bartenders often offer a listening ear, a bit of information, or even some advice.

Some people even consider a bartender to be their unofficial therapist. It’s time to celebrate those men and women who work behind the bar on World Bartender Day.

World Bartender Day is the day to appreciate the staff in your favourite local establishment. They work hard to keep their customers happy and often don’t get paid very well.

Remember to always be friendly to the bartender, especially by being patient when it is necessary to wait to be served. Give the bartender a smile and say ‘please’ and ‘thank you’ – the bartender will appreciate it and the group is more likely to get better service next time they buy a drink.

Celebrating the creative genius and talents of those important people tending bars all across the globe, so World Bartender Day was created in recent years. It seems to have started with a cocktail competition that happens in Australia and New Zealand, called The Perfect Blend. Since its founding, the day has only gotten more popular and the impact has grown like wildfire all over the world.

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Ahead of World Bartender Day, The Murray Pioneer spoke to Riverland bartenders to celebrate and get a sneak peek into their daily lives.

Dino Nardecchia

How long have you been bartending?

I've been bartending for just under five years.

What's your favourite cocktail to make?

My favourite cocktail is an espresso martini, because it involves my favourite alcohols and coffee, plus it give a bit of a show to the customers in making them. I think part of making the drink is the theatrics involved.

What's your favourite thing about being a bartender?

Getting to know patrons, listening to them and learning about what's going on in the community, and knowing that they trust you enough. Also knowing that you can provide an environment where they can feel comfortable and relax.

If Paruna General Store/Brown's Well Tavern were a drink, what would it be?

If Paruna was a drink, it would simply have to be scotch on the rocks. It's a traditional, simple drink with character and strength. With the people and everything out there, what you see is what you get.

Josh Crook

How long have you been bartending?

I have been bartending for a year and a half, all at the distillery.

What's your favorite cocktail to make?

My favourite cocktail to prepare is a spicy pineapple margarita.

What's your favorite thing about being a bartender?

My favourite thing about being a bartender is getting to be creative with my work.

If 23rd Street Distillery were a drink, what would it be?

If 23rd Street Distillery was a drink, it would be a bold and refreshing gin and tonic. This is because the distillery blends tradition with modern techniques, reflecting the timelessness of classic gin with a creative edge.

Natasha Little

How long have you been bartending?

I've been bartending off and on for about 17 years.

What's your favourite cocktail to make?

Summer breeze margarita. It's the perfect drink on a warm summer day.

What's your favourite thing about being a bartender?

Dealing with customers and making sure everyone has a great experience at our venue.

If the Renmark Club was a drink what would it be?

Anything that's fruity and sweet, and also fresh.

Ryan Hayward

How long have you been bartending?

I've been bartending for 17 years and owned Sip & Tow for three years.

What's your favorite cocktail to make?

While I don't have a single favourite cocktail, I truly enjoy exploring various styles, whether it's a stirred cocktail, a shaken one, or a muddled creation.

What's your favorite thing about being a bartender?

One of the most rewarding aspects of being a bartender is the opportunity to craft drinks for people during special occasions, whether it's a wedding, a birthday party, or any social gathering.

If Sip & Tow were a drink, what would it be?

It would undoubtedly be a whiskey sour. Much like Sip & Tow, a whiskey sour offers versatility. Just as you can customise it with different types of whiskey to suit your taste, it can be adapted to fit any setting or preference.

Nominations now open for annual SA volunteer awards

RIVERLANDERS are invited to highlight the hard work of outstanding individuals or groups by nominating them for this year's South Australian Volunteer Awards.

People can nominate themselves or another group or individual they know in the following categories:

- ❑ The Joy Noble Medal: South Australia's highest distinction for an individual volunteer.
- ❑ 'The Andamooka' Community Project Award: Recognising a community or group volunteer project of significant community benefit.
- ❑ The Young Volunteer Award: Honouring an impressive young volunteer aged 12 to 25.
- ❑ The Excellence in Volunteer Management Award: Honouring a volunteer manager for their outstanding contribution to the profession.
- ❑ The Premier's Award for Corporate Social Responsibility: Recognising the community contribution of a South Australian for-profit business.

"This year, as we mark the 20th anniversary of these awards, we celebrate the nearly one million volunteers who help our state grow stronger," Minister for Human Services Nat Cook said.

"I encourage everyone to take this opportunity to nominate a deserving individual or group and help shine a spotlight on their invaluable contributions."

The 2025 South Australian Volunteer Awards will take place on 22 May, at the National Wine Centre, coinciding with National Volunteer Week, which runs from 19 to 25 May.

Nominations close Sunday 30 March.

Celebrating 10 years of community and growth: Riverside Estate Renmark marks a decade of success

RIVERSIDE Estate Renmark, a premium retirement and lifestyle village, is proudly celebrating 10 years of ownership, marking a decade of stability, growth, and strengthened community bonds. Since the change to private ownership in 2014, the village has flourished into a vibrant and welcoming environment where residents enjoy a fulfilling and active lifestyle.

To commemorate this milestone, the residents of Riverside Estate will celebrate with a street party on Thursday, followed by a formal event at the village. The celebration will include pre-dinner street refreshments, a sit-down dinner in the Community Centre, entertainment, and speeches.

Reflecting on this journey, long-term resident Trevor Anderson shared "things were tough before the new owners took over the village".

"It was in the hands of an administrator, and there was a negative sentiment amongst the residents and the broader community," he said.

Mr Anderson said "fast forward 10 years, and the picture is so much brighter. The directors have stabilised the business and have grown the village".

"Changes were slow at first, but in recent years, activity has accelerated," he said.

"We are now all very positive and excited about the future of our beloved community."

Significant improvements over the past decade have enhanced the living experience at Riverside Estate, including:

- ❑ An increase in resident numbers from 54 to 89
- ❑ Construction of 27 new homes, bringing the total to 62
- ❑ A substantial increase in residents' home values
- ❑ The development of a new Recreation Centre
- ❑ Expansion of roads, services, and other amenities to better cater to residents' needs
- ❑ Creation and enhancement of green spaces and gardens, providing a serene and picturesque environment for all to enjoy
- ❑ Since the acquisition of the village the business has spent more than $17m dollars, of which the directors estimate

95 per cent has been paid to local suppliers

To further invest in the community's future, Riverside Estate is excited to announce the opening of a brand-new subdivision within the estate. This expansion will offer 20 additional high-quality, low-maintenance homes designed for retirees seeking comfort, security, and a strong sense of community. Already, six of the available sites have been sold.

"Over the past decade, we have witnessed incredible friendships form, a thriving social culture develop, and a village that truly feels like home for so many," director Jim Turner said.

"We are delighted to be a part of the community, and able to celebrate this anniversary with our residents. With the new development, we are excited to offer new opportunities for others to join our wonderful community."

The close-knit atmosphere at Riverside Estate remains one of its most-treasured aspects, with residents enjoying a strong sense of belonging and support. Regular social events, interest groups, and shared experiences foster meaningful connections and lifelong friendships.

Mid Murray gets $1.5m tourism funding guernsey

A GRANT of more than $1.5m is set to support Mid Murray Council in increasing the area's tourism, and planning strategies for future economic growth.

Mid Murray Council last week announced it had received $1.52m through the Federal Government's Regional Precincts and Partnerships Program, for initiatives that will further support additional tourism growth in the district and to develop regional masterplans.

Mid Murray Mayor Simone Bailey said the funding was a substantial investment in the district's future.

"These grants are a significant contribution towards... expanding tourism opportunities right across the Mid Murray," Ms Bailey said.

"Mid Murray is still recovering from the impacts of the 2022/23 River Murray Flood and this grant funding will go a long way towards promoting tourism assets and facilities in our river communities, and the region more broadly.

"From the natural beauty of the Murray and all it offers in terms of water sports, heritage cruising and laid-back holidays, to the rich First Nations history of the Ngaut Ngaut Conservation Park, and the unparalleled beauty of the night sky in our International Dark Sky Reserve – there is something for everyone in our area.

"We believe that the Mid Murray has significant potential for tourism growth, and the projects supported by this grant will help us realise some of these incredible opportunities. The council appreciates and acknowledges the Albanese Government's continued support for the region."

It is understood the funding will cover an Indigenous heritage survey, planning and design of tourism infrastructure for Australia's only International Dark Sky Reserve, and the creation of regional masterplans for 11 towns across the Mid Murray.

Ms Bailey said the supporting growth to the region's economy and developing a strategic process for tourism asset construction was a goal.

Further information about the Regional Precincts and Partnerships Program, is available by visiting the website (www.infrastructure.gov.au/territories-regions-cities/regional-australia/regional-and-communityprograms/regional-precincts-and-partnerships-program).

Council's cemetery beautification program

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

MID Murray Council is working with community groups to beautify cemeteries in the district.

Cemeteries in Blanchetown, Cadell, Morgan, and Swan Reach are among those that will have their appearance improved.

Mid Murray Mayor Simone Bailey said the beautification of the cemeteries was being funded through some of the money council received from the Federal Government's Local Roads and Community Infrastructure Program's phase 4 funding.

The cemetery upgrades also include the continuation of the Swan Reach Columbarium and cemetery pathways.

Council said a hedge of lily pilly trees had been planted in collaboration with the community.

The Swan Reach

Progress Association donated the plants, which will be maintained by Swan Reach Men's Shed volunteers.

"Initiatives such as this not only enhance the environment, but they strengthen the bonds within the community," Ms Bailey said.

"We really value and appreciate the contributions of these types of dedicated community groups," she said.

Livestock Advisory Committee nominations open

RIVERLAND livestock producers are invited to join a new committee aiming to support a properly governed, transparent and accountable industry organisation.

Livestock SA chair Gillian Fennell said "the new skills-based committee will play a key role in advising the board on industry matters and ensuring the continued success of South Australia's livestock industry".

"The committee will provide insights on livestock industry issues and make recommendations on the allocation of the Cattle and Sheep Industry Funds," Ms Fennell said.

"It will also monitor the SA Red Meat and Wool Blueprint 2030, assess funded project outcomes, and recommend policy and program responses to industry challenges and opportunities."

"This committee is an excellent opportunity for producers and industry professionals who want to make a difference and support South Australia's red meat and wool industries."

For more information about nominations, including the committee's terms of reference and nomination form, visit the website (www.livestocksa.com.au/about-livestock-sa/lac-nominations-2025).

PINK STUMPS DAY

Bluetongues go pink for special cause

LACHLAN DAND

ONE of the most important causes in the Riverland is set to be celebrated this Saturday when Renmark North hosts its now-annual Pink Stumps Day fixture.

Raising money for the McGrath Foundation, a charity steeped into cricket history that supports families experiencing cancer all over Australia, a double header will be played at Renmark Oval.

Renmark North will take on the Mallee Bushrangers in an A grade finals preview on oval one, with the B grade taking on Loxton in a massive clash on oval number two, both kicking off from 1pm.

The Bluetongues will switch its regular blue uniform to pink, with the shirts to be auctioned post game, and all funds raised going to the McGrath Foundation.

North will incorporate its Ladies Day into the afternoon, also starting at 1pm, and club president Troy Henderson said he encourages everyone to show support.

"It's $60 for the alcoholic package, and $30 for the non-alcoholic package for those ladies wanting to be part of the function, and finger food will be available, and the bar will be open from 1pm" he said.

"We'll have a back-to-front draw for all, and the girls will be doing raffles throughout the day while the cricket's on.

"For them it's all about having fun and filling the day, and socialising, so it should be a great afternoon."

Previously involved with the Murrayville (now Mallee) Cricket Club, Mr Henderson debuted the 100% of the profits from this feature will be donated to the McGrath Foundation on behalf of Renmark North Cricket Club and Murray Pioneer.

concept last year, following successes over the border.

“We did it down at Murrayville for five years, and it proved to be pretty successful for both the club, and the foundation, and it was just a really great social event,” he said.

“Last year we decided let’s give it a go at North, and it was a pretty successful day first up, and everyone enjoyed it.”

“When we said let’s do it again, everyone jumped on board, including the sponsors with prizes for the raffles, SACA got involved, and I’m pretty proud of what we’ve done so far.”

“Last year we made $3000 so if we can beat that this time around it would be awesome.”

Local sporting clubs and the charities these choose to support are one of the biggest drivers of the community all across the Riverland.

Both Barmera and Loxton have also chosen to get behind Pink Stumps Day throughout the year, and Mr Henderson expressed the importance of supporting charities.

“It gives people an out to get out and socialise, and everyone is doing it tough with the cost-of-living crisis, and this is a cheap day out where you can hang out with friends and meet new people,” he said.

“Everyone has been touched by cancer, or knows someone who has been in the past, and that’s what makes what the people involved in the McGrath Foundation do so important.”

“When we were in Murrayville we were unlucky because it’s so far away and remote that there wasn’t anyone able to help us out too much.”

“But there is one in the Riverland – Rebecca Semmens – and she will be there on the day as well, and we need to make more money so there are people to support those going through it as soon as the diagnosis comes through.”

"If there's funds available for development of treatments, and fundraising for research, it's going to make it a lot easier for the people going through it."

Mr Henderson thanked the sponsors for getting involved with the afternoon's events, particularly the local businesses around the region.

"Yates are on board as well as AA Canvas, and SACA will be donating Adelaide Strikers shirts," he said.

Scissor Lounge, Hair Bliss By Donna, Big River Bedding, Such Salon, Serendipity, Henri and Cooper, Angove's Family Wines, Lots of Pots Renmark, Ral Ral Store, Koch's Foodland Renmark, and The Beauty Spot have all jumped on too.

"The major sponsors at the club in McDonald's Renmark, Hotel Renmark, Renmark Club, and Nutrien Harcourts have all been a huge help too."

North's senior players will wear both pink shirts and hats on the day, while the under 16s and under 12s will don the caps.

Mr Henderson said the idea for the pink playing shirts was a unique initiative, with the club wanting to try something new.

"I'm super excited to see how they've turned out and they're going to look awesome out on the field too," he said.

"Mallee gave us the tick of approval and we went from there, and they're really bright, and with the pink the boys will certainly stand out on the oval.

Thomas Bannister (right) presents Harry Papageorgios with his Pink Stumps Day hat ahead of last year's planned B grade fixture which failed to go ahead.

"We'll do a hat and shirt presentation at 11:30am for all grades, in between the juniors finishing and the seniors starting."

Mr Henderson said he encourages all members of the public to head down and showcase their support wearing pink, with the club to recognise its past players on the same night.

"It all kicks into past players day, which is all about getting some of the older people back to the club, in particular the life members," he said.

"We're going to have a live band on the night, and some guest speakers right at the start of the night, with a couple of big surprises too."

"All we ask for is people talking about the foundation and getting the awareness around it in the area, and that helps as well."

Despite warm weather predicted, Mr Henderson confirmed the day will go ahead if the cricket is heated out, with a fun T/20 planned, while live band Rakali will rock the crowd with a show on Saturday night.

WITH YOUR HELP, NO ONE GOES THROUGH CANCER WITHOUT CARE

Pink is the Colour of Support

Decades of care sparked by an idea

IT started with care 20 years ago. A one-of-a-kind relationship changed cancer care in Australia forever.

Jane McGrath, wife of Australian cricketer Glenn McGrath was supported by a breast care nurse as she went through treatment.

“My breast cancer nurse allowed me to be Jane McGrath – the friend, the mother and the wife – not just the breast cancer patient.”

It sparked an idea. A vision. Jane and Glenn set out to make sure every family experiencing breast cancer had the support of a breast care nurse. No matter where they live, for free. And so, the McGrath Foundation came to be.

In our 20 years, we’ve supported over 150,000 families, and with the help of our passionate donors, fundraisers and fans, turned whole towns, products and stadiums pink.

Together, we’ve achieved so much for so many, and through it all gained a lifetime of knowledge. We’ve become experts in care. In 2020, we launched the McGrath Model of Care, a framework for the delivery of best practice supportive care nursing.

Now, the proven positive impact of the way we care has led us to a new vision. One that’s bigger than we could’ve ever imagined.

We’re taking our care to all cancers. It’ll take more funding, more training and more support. It’ll take all of us, and we’re up for the challenge.

Are you with us?

We’re made up of a passionate group of people, united with one goal: to ensure that no one goes through cancer without the care of a McGrath Cancer Care Nurse.

Hard work brings wins for Mid Murray Council

SIMONE BAILEY
Mayor
Mid Murray Council

There's a real sense of positivity in the air right now, and with good reason.

Last month, I received a call from a federal minister to share some incredible news, our council had secured $1.52m in funding through the Federal Government's Regional Precincts and Partnership Program.

This follows December's $1.1m Play Our Way funding announcement, and the $18m drought support package from the State Government the month before.

Each of these funding wins was personally communicated to me by a minister, a testament to the growing recognition of our community's needs at the highest levels of government.

These milestones didn't happen by chance.

They are the result of relentless advocacy, effective storytelling, and a deep commitment to regional equity, driven by the hard work of council staff, elected members, community partnerships and the passionate voices of our community.

Back in May 2024, I wrote about the inequities regional communities face, urging our residents to stand with us in making our voices heard.

In our case, advocacy isn't just about identifying problems, it's about offering solutions and ensuring those in decision-making roles understand the unique pressures on regional councils.

For too long, regional areas have had to fight for the same level of support that metropolitan communities often receive with ease.

Our recent successes demonstrate that when we tell our story in a way that resonates, people listen.

When I campaigned for mayor in October 2022, I was told in a public forum that I wasn't particularly skilled at networking.

I took that as a challenge. Since then, I've worked tirelessly to build relationships, create opportunities, and ensure our community's voice is not only heard, but felt.

The reality is, Mid Murray sits in very safe political seats. That could have been a barrier to securing funding. Instead, our approach has proven that advocacy isn't just about politics or votes, it's about making our case in a way that decision-makers can't ignore.

These funding wins are a direct investment in our community's future.

They mean better facilities, stronger support for local families and businesses, and greater resilience in the face of challenges like drought and economic uncertainty.

But beyond the dollar amounts, they represent something even more valuable, recognition that regional communities matter.

This is just the beginning. I am committed to continuing this fight for regional equity because I know how much is at stake.

Progress doesn't happen overnight, but every meeting, every conversation, and every challenge along the way has led to real, tangible outcomes for our community.

While advocacy can sometimes feel like an uphill battle, these recent wins prove that when we persist, we succeed.

But the work isn't done. Regional areas deserve fairness, investment, and opportunity, and we must continue making our voices heard.

One of my top advocacy priorities remains the equitable distribution of Financial Assistance Grants, ensuring regional councils receive their fair share of funding to meet the needs of their communities.

I encourage our community to keep sharing their stories, speaking up about local challenges, and standing with us in the push for regional equity.

Together, we can build on this momentum and ensure even greater outcomes for all regional areas.

Amy to share knowledge at Women's Day

THE Rotary Club of Loxton welcomes Amy Evans as keynote speaker for the International Women's Day Breakfast, to be held on Sunday 2 March 2025

Amy has always lived either on farms or in country towns, and has a passion for country education. She is married with three young children aged 5 to 8 years old.

Amy grew up in the Adelaide Hills, on a small farm at the end of Bird in Hand Road (you may know this winery) out the back of Woodside/Mount Torrens.

She went into teaching with a Country Teaching Scholarship, knowing she only wanted to teach in country schools, and be a part of country communities.

Initially, she taught at Mount Gambier as a geography teacher, before the cold winters sent her searching for opportunities further north. Since moving to our region 2010, she has been at Renmark High School as a leader, having various assistant and deputy principal roles. Amy also dabbled in owning a vineyard for a few years, purchasing a 20-acre property in 2011, which gave her an opportunity to learn a bit about the local industry, before selling this a few years later.

Amy was identified as a leader, ready for a principal role through the Department's Future Leader Program, and was the first leader in the state to be offered a term-long mentoring/work shadowing opportunity in 2021, temporarily relocating her family to work alongside the principal of Banksia Park International High School. This was good preparation, as in 2022, Amy was appointed to Loxton High School as the principal temporarily, and then went on to win the tenured position.

Amy loves her role as Loxton High School principal, describing it as an "absolute privilege to work with young people, and have this opportunity to make a positive impact in our community".

Paringa's top attractions

Headings Cliff

Headings Cliff offers stunning views of the Murray River and is one of the most-photographed scenes in the region. Just a short 10-minute drive from Paringa, the unique, rich colors of the golden limestone cliffs make it a must visit destination during your time in Renmark. Follow the fenced track and choose to take in the magnificent views from ground level or make your way up the tower platform for an even higher vantage point. There is ample parking onsite with plenty of room for long vehicles to navigate and turn around. The outlook from the river is also breathtakingly beautiful. Enjoy the orange-red glow of the cliffs at sunset via boat, canoe, kayak or as you pass by on your houseboat adventure.

Paringa Bridge

The Paringa Bridge forms part of the Sturt Highway, carrying traffic across the Murray River between Renmark and Paringa. The Paringa Bridge is one of only four suspension bridges still spanning the Murray River, opening in January 1927. The bridge is of particular structural significance due to its advanced engineering, which allows a section of the bridge to be raised to allow larger river traffic to pass through. The bridge structure was designed and constructed in Adelaide and was to cater for both road and rail traffic.

situated on the Highway, it's a perfect rest stop to wander and ponder on days gone by. You might even find something from the good old days.

Renmark Paringa Community Museum

The Renmark Paringa Community Museum is an outdoor museum featuring a vast range of farm equipment and agricultural implements in a riverside setting. Set in a landscaped native garden on the banks of the Murray River alongside the historic Paringa Bridge, the museum features a range of vintage farm machinery, implements, sheds, tools and static displays. Their collection of historical steam engines, many in working order, is impressive. A recent addition to the museum is the Black Stump, which is one of the largest of 11 known black stumps in Australia.

Paringa Silo Art

The Paringa Silo Art stands tall and proud, offering a glimpse into the areas past, selected historical figures and relaxed lifestyle on the Murray River. There are four distinct images (two on the front facing the Sturt Highway, and two on the rear of the structure) linked together with soaring pelicans. Local characters were selected to feature as the base silhouettes with the story of our district told through the images within the profiles, including Possum, and his mythological connection with the Murray River, a houseboat, the historic Paddle Steamer Industry, a dinghy, the magnificent river cliffs plus the iconic Paringa Bridge and a Murray cod.

Murraylands and Riverland Landscape Board wetland project officer Amy Rice. PHOTO: supplied

Amy's skills key to landscape board success

AT the Murraylands and Riverland Landscape Board they believe that science needs more passionate, driven women – and Amy is a perfect example of why.

Starting her studies in marine biology at the height of the pandemic, fieldwork opportunities were scarce. Determined to gain hands-on experience, she pursued an honours degree in ecology and evolutionary biology, diving into how habitat type and marine protection status alter the behaviour of range-extending tropical fish in temperate ecosystems. Her fieldwork took her along Australia's stunning eastern coastline, where she explored diverse marine landscapes.

In June 2024, she joined the Murraylands and Riverland Landscape Board as a casual employee in the citizen science team, getting hands-on with projects like frog monitoring, Soil Your Undies, National Science Week events and much more. Her experience showed her the power of community-driven science in conservation.

Amy also learned about the work of the wetlands team, getting involved in bird and fish surveys, surface water surveys, and threatened species projects. She found herself exactly where she wanted to be out in the field, making a real impact.

Now, as a proud member of the wetlands team, Amy is excited to continue honing her freshwater ecology skills while working with the local community to protect these vital ecosystems.

Riverland Wine Centre temporarily closed

THE Riverland Wine Centre – located at Pike Creek – will be closed until Friday 28 February for necessary maintenance to be undertaken.

An announcement made Monday on the centre's Facebook page said "February tends to be our quietest period at the wine centre and as such it tends to be the best time to schedule maintenance, which we have decided to do". "During this time we encourage you to seek out any of our many local cellar doors for your wine fix," the statement read.

Further information regarding the Riverland Wine Centre can be found by visiting the website (<https://www.facebook.com/riverlandwinecentre>).

Locals invited to present at landcare conference

LANDCARE Australia is seeking Riverland poster exhibits, summarising a natural resource management project's objectives, outcomes and learnings, to display at their 2025 National Landcare Conference Landcare Australia CEO Shane Norrish is encouraging Riverland landcarers to get involved and participate.

"The National Landcare Conference is a truly special gathering that brings together people of all ages, united by a shared passion for agriculture, the environment and their communities," Mr Norrish said.

"It's a week of connection, where we come together from every corner of the country to share stories, exchange ideas, inspire each other and take new ideas back to our communities or workplaces.

"If you have a landcare project, story, or research to share, this is your chance to reach a national audience."

Delegates can also secure a discounted rate via the Early Bird Registration, which is available until 1 April.

Abstract submissions are due by 11:59pm, on 17 April.

For more information about the 2025 National Landcare Conference and to submit an abstract or poster, visit the website (national-landcareconference.org.au).

The Loxton Garden Club hold monthly meetings on the 4th Sunday of the month. Meeting will be held at The Loxton Club – Woolshed Room at 2pm. For further information contact Jacque Schulz 0402 158 759 or Ian Cass 0428 876 220. Email: loxtongardenclub@gmail.com (First meeting for 2025 is on 23rd February 2025).

Gardening Tips for Surviving the Harsh Australian Summer

Summer can be a challenging time for gardeners and plants alike. To ensure that both you and your garden thrive despite the heat, here are some tips:

Plant Selection

Choose plants that can withstand the intense Australian summer. Bottlebrush, Acacias, and Eucalypts have tough, leathery leaves that help them endure high temperatures. Look for plants with features that indicate heat resistance, such as:

- Succulents that store water in their leaves or stems.
- Needle-like leaves.
- Grey leaves.
- Furry-leaved plants like Emu Bush (Eremophila sp.).

Pot Plant Care

For potted plants, move them into the shade or group them together to provide mutual shade. Direct sunlight on black pots can harm plant roots. If a potted plant is severely stressed by heat, submerge the entire pot in a bucket of water. Once the air bubbles stop, the root-ball is fully saturated and the plant can recover.

Creating Shelter

It's crucial to create shelter in your garden. If you lack big, shady trees, fast-growing plants can provide much-needed cover for heat-sensitive plants. Wattles are excellent for this purpose.

You can also create a mini shadehouse by hanging shadecloth off the side of your deck or using stakes and shadecloth to cover large plants. For smaller plants, use palm fronds or prunings stuck into the soil to provide some relief from the sun.

Watering Tips

Water restrictions are common in Australia, so it's important to use water efficiently. Water deeply and early in the morning to allow the water to soak into the soil and create a reservoir for hot days. If you see a plant under severe moisture stress (e.g., drooping leaves), act quickly. Wet the foliage to cool it down and use a watering can to deliver water slowly and evenly around the plant.

After watering, retain moisture by applying a 50-millimeter layer of mulch on the soil surface. This will reduce evaporation and suppress weeds that compete for moisture.

Remembering the 'Barmera – Waikerie' Beaufort Bomber

TUCKED away in the Waikerie RSL Museum as part of the RAAF display is a photo and press release from The River News, dated Wednesday 16 August 1995, which details the war effort made by the towns of Barmera and Waikerie in the provision of the 'Barmera – Waikerie' Beaufort bomber.

As World War II began to threaten Australia, the Australian aircraft industry from its fledgling infancy grew in size, until in 1941 it manufactured 724 Beaufort bombers, one of the most formidable aircrafts of the war.

The Beaufort A9-500 was the 500th Australian made and commissioned aircraft during World War II, and was given the name 'Barmera – Waikerie' to honour the towns that had provided the financial means for its construction.

The people of Barmera and Waikerie had raised over 30,000 pounds sterling, having fulfilled their third victory loan quota.

This was seen as quite an honour for any towns, but especially for the small towns of Barmera and Waikerie at this time.

In addition to this plane, a Beaufort named the 'Berri – Loxton' bomber was won in the previous second victory loan subscription of 30,000 pounds.

These four towns were the only towns in South Australia to have had planes named after them.

The monies were raised through the sale of war bonds administered by the Commonwealth War Loans Office.

The war loans scheme encouraged Australians to buy war bonds that would mature with interest after the war.

Production would be carried out between 1941 and 1944 at Fishermen's Bend, Melbourne, and Mascot, Sydney.

The Pratt and Whitney R-1830 Twin Wasp engine fitted to these aircraft would be built by the Commonwealth Aircraft Corporation (CAC).

The State Railway Workshops of Victoria, New South Wales, and South Australia were building sub-assemblies and components.

This was a major undertaking for Australia and the original plan was to build aircraft for both the United Kingdom's Royal Air Force, and the Royal Australian Air Force.

The first 58 were issued RAF serials although only seven were delivered to the RAF, with the remainder going to the RAAF and being re-serialised A9-1 onwards.

With Australian production from A9-50 on, even-numbered serials came from Mascot and those with odd numbers from Fishermen's Bend.

This means the 'Barmera – Waikerie' bomber was built in Mascot, Sydney.

The Beaufort Bomber was a formidable aircraft able to match the Japanese Mitsubishi Zero fighter with Crew members of the 'Barmera- Waikerie' bomber from the No.15 squadron Flight Lieutenant Harry Silcock, 403843, (left) Flight Officer Alfred Sage 437010, Navigator and Flight Officer John Baxter 424723, and Wireless Telegraphy Operator and Pilot Officer Joseph Siddal 411233 in Madang, New Guinea, May 1945. similar speed, and saw plenty of action in the Pacific theatre of war.

The 'Barmera – Waikerie' bomber was part of No.15 Squadron and was crewed by flight lieutenant Harry Silcock 403843, flight officer Alfred Sage 437010, navigator and flight officer John Baxter 424723, and wireless telegraphy operator, and pilot officer, Joseph Siddal 411233.

Air gunner and flight officer Sage, of Renmark, was pleased when told it was named the 'Barmera – Waikerie'.

The plane, as recalled by Mrs Sage, was the first Beaufort bomber to land at Renmark.

No. 15 squadron was a RAAF light bomber and maritime squadron of World War II.

It was active from 1944 to 1946 and was stationed in New Guinea from March 1945.

Its duties in New Guinea included anti-submarine and anti-barge patrols, mail runs, supply drops, and attacking Japanese positions.

On completion of the war, the nose art recorded seven supply drops and 15 bombing missions successfully completed.

After the war the A9-500 was placed into storage on 1 October 1945, and struck off charge in August 1945.

The below was a speech given by Waikerie Football Club's (WFC) Build Committee chair Brendan Sidhu at the soft opening of the new Waikerie Community Hub, which was held last weekend...

10 years in the making

IT'S my pleasure to welcome you all.

A special welcome to local members Tony Pasin and Tim Whetstone, Loxton Waikerie District Council (LWDC) CEO David Beaton, deputy major Jodie Flavel and all our local councillors, life members, builder Mitch Wood, and his wife Marina.

WFC board Sue, Sam, Aaron, Henry, Benton Kay, Tim, Chris D, Chris Liebich, George, Brian, and Nathan, and Building Management Committee members Henry, KF, Beaver, Aaron, and Tim.

A very warm welcome to WFC members, sponsors, supporters and guests.

I thought I'd spend a little bit of time on our journey and how we got here today.

This facility was 10 years in the making. In fact, the first committee was formed back in 2015, by Henry C, Brenton K, Lauren Oswald/Bevan, Jen Nitschke, Steve Liebich and I.

I had a dream to build on the river, and Henry said I have the same dream.

We presented to the then council and they were supportive of an upgrade and new build. We needed to go away and get some plans and a budget, and get back to them.

Henry and I started to negotiate a new build on the river but were told that we would never get approval to build there by the previous LWDC CEO. It was also at a time when we were encouraged to move to the rec oval.

Given our budget, we were looking to build a glorified shed.

We then met with the new LWDC CEO David Beaton and a grant writer, and applied for a $1.5m grant.

We secured the $1.5m in federal funding thanks to Tony Pasin. This needed to be matched with cash and some in-kind support. To ensure we could match the funding we needed to get a loan from LWDC of $500,000, WFC to put in money, and then if there was a shortfall several members guaranteed to put in $10,000 or $20,000. I must say a big thank you for the unanimous support of LWDC and the terms of the generous loan.

We engaged JBG Architects, who drew up plans for a facility much better than a tin shed on the site of the old rooms, after deliberating on a couple of sites.

We met Mitch Wood to remove the old building, and he ended up as our builder.

It was a meeting with the council, with all councillors in attendance at the old club rooms, that helped change to the site we are at today.

We showed them our plans. A councillor asked had we considered all sites.

David Beaton told me after the meeting that we could build at the river. It is a process, but will take more time.

They say it takes a village to bring up a child. It has taken much more to get this facility funded and built.

It would not have happened without the funding we secured from both the Federal and State Governments, and for the support of the WFC board. It was a huge decision to agree to take on such a loan.

Special thanks to Tony Pasin and Tim Whetstone for supporting and pushing for the successful securing of the grants. Both $1.5m each.

Thanks to the WFC board directors at the time, Gilda Carter, Sue Miller, George Smith, Henry C, Aaron T, Tim B, and Shawn N for the support. I don't know of any other volunteer-run organisations in Riverland who would be able to do this.

It was really important to the WFC to try and use our local trades where we could, and it was great that Hansen Electrical, Paschke Electrical and Waikerie Plumbing have been very much involved in this build. They have gone above and beyond to help create this brilliant building. Thanks to David Neindorf, Graham and Sam Pashke, and Tom Baker and their terrific staff, some who are here.

Thanks to LWDC for your generous loan and continuing support.

Special thanks to David Beaton for his counsel and guidance. It's been a great ride. A big huge thank you to Daniel Brown, who was the project manager. He met with us onsite once a fortnight during the build. We could not have done it without you. I really don't know what we were thinking.

We are proud of the building that Mitch and his team have built. It is overwhelming to see the level of pride and ownership Mitch, his team and our local trades have displayed during the build, and this continues today after handing the keys over.

To our sponsors, our volunteers and to anyone who helped with your time, or putting your hand in your pocket, a big or little thank you to all or you.

I need to make special mention of Gary and Wendy Pfeiler, and Chris and Shane Devito, for their generous donation of the pavers, and to Richard and Steve Pfeiler for freighting them from Adelaide to site.

Also thank you to our major sponsors for tonight, Farm House Fresh, Linke and Mitolo families, Growers Wine Group, Accolade, Gary F, Chris D and KF for the wines.

This will be a great facility for our community. To everyone who has helped on the way this is a fantastic legacy you have all done for our community.

KF, Ange, Chris and Shane, and the management committee, the hours you have put in and are still putting in is absolutely tremendous.

For tonight, a thank you to Jacki, Beaver,

Sue, KF and Ange, Chris and Shane for the set up and planning of this sold out event, and also to Bish and his team for the first big cook.

To the bar staff, well done and yes, we will be open for business commencing at the Jason Lehmann memorial game, on 15

March. I'd encourage you to come and enjoy a meal.

We have again secured Peter and Lyn Kent, from Salt & Pepper Catering. Thanks to KF and Chris for helping us to negotiate and getting them to sign up.

I hope you have a wonderful night.

Crackdown on stalking: new reforms to help victims

STATE-wide reforms, covering the Riverland and developed in consultation with victim support services and the justice sector have lowered the threshold required to prove the offence of stalking, making it easier for authorities to act against perpetrators.

In a bid to capture a broader range of harmful stalking activities, the reformed stalking offence will cover stalking with intent to cause any physical or mental harm instead of only serious physical or mental harm.

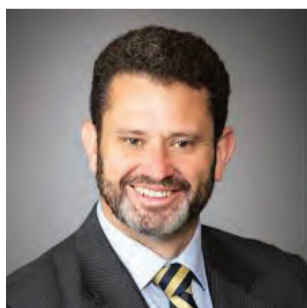

Attorney-General Kyam Maher said "these changes will help to hold perpetrators to account, and also better define what constitutes this type of offending".

"These reforms also update the types of behaviours that can be considered stalking and harassment, to ensure new and emerging forms of technology – such as using devices to track a person's movements or to monitor their communications – are also covered," Mr Maher said.

The newly passed reforms will also ensure offences will apply even if an offender "did not specifically intend to cause harm or fear, but should reasonably have known that the conduct would be likely to cause harm or fear" tions about what the types of behaviour that constitute stalking, the offence will now also be known as 'stalking and harassment' – which incorporates broader activities that can constitute the offence, including harassment via communication and surveillance technologies.

Lions Club of Renmark February News

IT was nice to enjoy a break from club activities over the Christmas and New Year period. Our first event in 2025 was a dinner meeting, on Monday 13 January, at the Renmark Club, where our guest speaker, Renmark Club general manager Michael Cahill gave a very interesting talk and PowerPoint presentation on his life, his experiences since coming to Renmark and the recent changes to our community club. His presentation was highlighted by details of the major renovations planned over the next 12 months for the upgrade of the Renmark Club balcony area and extension of the building at the riverfront lawned area end to incorporate a new reception area, new toilets, new bar facilities and a conference room. Exciting times ahead.

On Sunday 19 January, most club members, partners and family gathered at the home of our president Paul Farr, and wife Heather, for a social barbeque – a traditional event (President’s Barbeque resurrected from years past. It was a most-enjoyable event with Paul proudly showing us his large ‘man cave’ shed, with all his collection of model cars, trucks, ambulances, buses, trains, and his working model railway. Very impressive. It was a most-enjoyable day to start the new year for our club, albeit being very hot. Many thanks to catering co-ordinator Steve for organising the food, with a wide selection of meats and salads supplied by our club.

Club catering events were active again in January, with the club catering at Renmark Primary School on 15 January with a barbeque lunch (hot dog in a roll), with donuts, for Renmark After School Hours Care’s Carnival Day, for their Vacation Care Program for children aged 5 to 12 years, and their teachers. The kids loved their lunch and were well behaved. Following a request from the Riverland Dinghy Club, our club agreed to cater at the Renmark Club Dash 4 Cash event, on the lawns next to the Renmark Club, on Friday 31 January. This event is always popular going into the evening for the public, with spectacular racing of the dinghies on the river under lights as a leadup to the annual Dinghy Derby boat race, on Sunday 2 February. Our food menu of sausage sizzle, hot dogs and hot donuts and especially cold drinks was in great demand from a large crowd on a very warm night, right up to the final fireworks display ending the event. During the evening the demand for our food and drinks required several trips to the supermarket for more supplies. A most-successful fundraising event for our club.

During the afternoon of Saturday 25 January, approximately 60 semi-trailers loaded with bales of hay stopped in Renmark for a lunch break on their way to delivering the hay to Peterborough, for those drought-stricken farmers in the mid north of SA. Members of Renmark Lions met the convoy early in the afternoon and with its pilot, Ray Akers, from Heyfield Lions Club, and we directed the trucks to park along Industry Road adjacent to the Sturt Highway all the way up to 23rd Street Distillery, where the drivers were able to visit McDonalds, Hungry Jacks and KFC for their lunch. It was a very-successful stopover, with many of the Renmark community coming out in support of their visit and drive through. Renmark Lions Club donated $1000 to Aussie Hay Runners at this stopover and provided each truck driver with a bag of hot donuts on the day before they continued their journey.

Our monthly “Fundraising Bazaars” commenced again in mid-January, with a very successful event and barbeque, held on Saturday 25 January. The next Bazaar/Barbeque will be held on Saturday 22 February. So, everyone is invited to come and join us and enjoy the family atmosphere at Renmark’s No. 2 Oval (W. E. Wood Hall) between 8am and 12 noon. All Bazaar enquiries can be made to 0457 006 631.

Funding available for Riverland community environmental projects

APPLICATIONS for the 2025-26 Grassroots Grants program are now aimed to support Riverland community-led grassroots environmental projects.

An initiative of the Murraylands and Riverland Landscape Board (MRLB), Grassroots Grants support the community to undertake projects and activities that help build the environmental resilience and sustainability of the region.

Applications are invited from community organisations, volunteer groups, local government, schools and education providers, First Nations groups, NGOs, landholders, and individuals in the Riverland region.

Funding can be used towards activities such as revegetation, weed control, training, citizen science, small equipment purchases, environmental surveys and community events.

MRLB chair Frances Simes encouraged the community to consider ways to improve the sustainability of their local environment.

“Now’s a great time to think about a local project you’d like to tackle – it could be developing a biodiverse shelter belt on farm, or removing weeds from a waterway,” she said.

“Grassroots Grants can also be used to improve the knowledge, understanding and capacity of the community. This could be by hosting a workshop to support farmers during dry times, or organising a wetland study tour for a school or kindy group.

“This year, just over $500,000 is available through the Grassroots Grants, so we encourage all eligible applicants to consider how the funding could support their project ideas.”

To be eligible for funding projects need to align with at least one of the focus areas in the landscape board’s Regional Landscape Plan, and applicants are encouraged to discuss their project ideas with landscape board staff before completing their application.

Grassroots Grants funding is available across three value ranges — $1000 and under, $1001 to $10,000 and $10,001 and above.

The Grassroots Grant program is funded through the landscape levies, reinvesting levy payer contributions to support the health the Riverland region.

Applications are open until 30 March 2025.

For more information on Grassroots Grants, including guidelines and application forms, visit the website: (flow.landscape.sa.gov.au/grassroots-grants).

IN MEMORIAM

MAPEY, Teresa.

In loving memory of our dear Teresa who left us 1 year ago on 20/2/2024.

Devoted wife, much-loved stepmum and cherished nana, she filled our lives with warmth, kindness and love.

We miss your smile and your laughter, and we feel the space you left behind.

So loved, so missed.

Always, Your family.♥

SPEIGHT, Bob.

Passed away nine years ago on 22/2/2016.

Missed so very much and remembered every day.

All our love, Cindy, Cody, Tate, and Chloe. Xxxx

STOCKER-THIELE, Luke John.

9/3/1986 - 21/2/2015

It's 10 years since you left a hole in my heart.

My heart has been left broken since the day you left.

The memories I treasure dearly are in the silent tears that still flow.

You are in my thoughts every day.

I often speak your name.

It's never going to get easy this constant emptiness, not to be able to see your smiling face, have our conversations and times together.

I know I have been blessed to have you as my son, Luke.

One day, I will hold you in my arms again, until then you'll stay close in my heart.

Love you to the moon and back Luke, Mum.

You will never be forgotten, Luke.

You will always live in our hearts. Mum, Dad, Kane and Indee.

Miss you Uncle Luke. Riley, Chace, Lila, Bruno and Reina.

RETURN THANKS

STONEHAM, Jarrad.

We would like to sincerely thank everyone for all the love, support, flowers, cards and donations to Bowel Cancer Australia that we have received in Jarrad's memory.

Your generosity has helped us all during this very difficult time.

Please accept this as our personal thanks.

Lucky number 13 for Waikerie basketball

IT took 13 rounds of Riverland division one men's basketball to come to fruition, but Waikerie is on the winners list for the first time in season 24/25.

Fixtured at home against a depleted Berri outfit, Waikerie made a strong start to Thursday night's match, opening up with a seven-point advantage, which kicked out to nine by the half.

The Warriors kept the foot on the gas throughout the third quarter, extending the margin to 17 points by the final break, before holding off a determined Blazers side in the final quarter to run out 14-point victors.

Kieran Hahn was the key piece in the win for Waikerie, with an 18-point effort that saw three triples made, while Luke Exton and Reily Fridd impressed with 15 apiece.

For Berri, Brody Nagy stood tall in the defeat, finishing with 17 points in a display that featured five triples, while Harrison Campbell fought valiantly with 16.

Elsewhere, Renmark confirmed its status as the premiership favourites, dismissing Loxton by 26 points in the rematch of last season's grand final.

At home, a balanced first half saw the Steamers hold an eight-point advantage at the half, before the home side turned it to a 16-point lead at the final break.

The Steamers continued scoring with ease throughout the final term, outscoring Loxton by 10 in the quarter to set up the big victory.

Brody Rover was a standout in the match for Renmark with 17 points, as was Declan Johnson with 13 points, each hitting three triples.

Furthermore, Alex Haynes was a key piece to victory with 15 points, while rising star Lachlan Keynes finished with 12.

Jasper Hutchinson was the dominant force for the Supercats with 14 points, while Lucas Warnett tried his best, finishing with 11.

Tomorrow night's fixture sees Berri hosting Renmark in a massive clash at Toyota Arena, while Waikerie will be searching for back-to-back wins when it battles Barmera.

Following a competition-wide bye, division one women's basketball will also tip off as Berri plays host to Loxton, and Waikerie welcomes Barmera to town.

HAVE YOUR SAY!

LOXTON WAIKERIE AGEING WELL STRATEGY

You are invited to have your say about "Ageing Well", and what this means to you or a loved one.

Funded by the South Australian Government's Office for Ageing Well, the District Council of Loxton Waikerie is developing an Ageing Well Strategy, in response to the increased number of older people living in the area. Council is dedicated to building a strong sense of community among its residents and improving their quality of life through various initiatives.

The development of a comprehensive Ageing Well Strategy will be led by consultants, Healthy Environs, as it will pinpoint key areas that need enhancement or development and act as a proactive measure to address the evolving needs of the growing population of older residents.

To assist in the development of Council's Ageing Well Strategy, you are invited to provide your feedback in a survey available online, via <https://engagement.lwdc.sa.gov.au>, or in person at the Loxton Council Office and the Loxton and Waikerie Libraries.

The survey will open for feedback on Monday 10 February 2025 and will close Friday 28 February 2025.

Alternatively Face-to-face workshops date are extended to the public to attend.

- Tuesday 18th February 2.00pm-3.30pm – Waikerie Bowling Club
- Tuesday 18th February 3.30pm-5.00pm – Waikerie Bowling Club
- Wednesday 19th February 2.00pm-3.30pm – Loxton Retirement Village Community Centre
- Thursday 20th February 9.00am-10.30am – Loxton Retirement Village Community Centre

Please contact Sue Schultz, Community Development Officer, on 8584 8000 to register your interest in attending the workshop and for further information.

Pelicans, Warriors lock in finals cricket

WITH the top four of the A grade locked in, eyes centered towards the Riverland Turf Cricket Association's B grade competition.

With several sides vying for the final four, Barmera travelled to Renmark to face off against the Bluetongues.

Winning the toss and electing to bat first, Barmera lost the early wickets of Callan Smart for 13, and Adrian Daly for eight.

However, experienced player Scott Humphries shone bright once more for the Pelicans, piecing together 33 from 72 deliveries, in a knock that saw four boundaries.

Club captain Kylan Beech helped tick the runs over for the visiting side, smashing 28, hitting two sixes in the innings.

Late knocks of 15 from Shep Humphries and Justin Bonney saw the Pelicans through to 142, despite tight bowling.

Dan Ivanovic took two wickets, while Stephen Files, Brock Morey, and Dirk Mouton each claimed one.

In reply, Sean Leesue compiled 28 at the top of the order, despite the wicket losses at the top of the order.

Tony Bharker (26), and Brock Morey (13), gave the Bluetongues a glimmer of hope, but it was to little avail with Renmark North bundled out for just 93, ending its season in the process.

Jono Beech took a staggering four wickets for just four runs, while Shep Humphries' three, and Kade Boase's two helped the Pelicans over the line.

Elsewhere, Waikerie/Ramco secured its spot in the finals series with a thumping 102-run victory over Gerard, in Berri.

The Warriors smashed 183 from a little more than 35 overs, with Mark Carter's score of 45 proving to be the centerpiece of the innings.

Harrison Nitschke pitched in with an unbeaten 24, while Flynn Andrew (22), and Naish Andrew (21) got the score ticking at the top of the order.

William Motto proved expensive, but finished the day with four wickets, while Jason Smedley showed his class with three.

Chasing 184 for victory, Gerard's only highlight came through George Halls' 29, while Smedley fought hard with 19, as the side were dismissed for just 81.

Waikerie/Ramco will finish its home and away season with a finals preview against Brown's Well, while Gerard has the bye, meaning its campaign draws to a close.

Meanwhile, Brown's Well moved to top spot on the B grade ladder with a thumping 112-run victory over Monash.

Batting first, the Cows were in early trouble losing both openers without scoring, before Brian Hampel steadied the ship.

Hampel crushed 67 in an innings that saw 10 boundaries, while Bruce Pech's 30, Lachlan Patterson's 29, and David Ireland's 27 put Brown's Well in a strong position.

Gavin Potts, Lucas Ravenscroft, and Jimmy Williams all struck twice with two wickets to stem the flow, but the home side managed 194.

However, Monash struggled to get any momentum going in reply, bundled out for just 82 despite Ravenscroft's 15-run display.

Matt Hampel was the star of the show with three wickets, while Adam Cunnah and Creagh Patterson each took two.

A grade action saw a low scoring affair from Berri Oval, where the home side returned to form, and the top-of-the-ladder, with a tense win over Renmark North.

In what presented as somewhat of a dress rehearsal with finals just a fortnight away, Berri won the toss, electing to bat.

Martin Sumner continued his terrific season at the top of the order, piecing together 57 in a fine knock.

Despite knocks of 18 from Reece Lehmann, and 16 from Wes Frankel, Berri lost continual wickets throughout the match.

Colin Packer and Armaan

Khaira each took two wickets, while economical bowling from Zakk Gallo helped North limit the score.

Set 131 for victory, Blake Henderson (16), and Tarque Williamson (13) ticked the score over for the Bluetongues, but Mitch Cawse had other ideas.

Cawse ripped through North's batting order, claiming a five-wicket haul, while Archie Peltz picked up two.

Dean Hill (26), Packer (24), and Josh Kenyon (20) gave North late help, before ultimately being dismissed 12 runs short of Berri's total.

Elsewhere, a low-scoring affair in the Mallee gave the Bushrangers a 41-run victory over Loxton.

Hayden Beckmann top-scored for the hosts with a score of 27, while Thomas Wurfel's 21, and Randall Watson's 13 saw Mallee to a competitive score of 122.

Despite this, Brian Lynch stole the innings with four wickets for just one run, while Dan Zdanowicz and Tyler Hobby finished with two apiece.

However, Loxton struggled to chase the total, dismissed for just 81, following a four-wicket effort from Randall Watson.

Lynch fought hard with 28, but it was to little avail, with Wurfel and Jonny Peers each taking two wickets.

Callan Maczkowiack fought hard for Berri in the narrow defeat to Cobdogla, with the home side ultimately outclassed.

Cobdogla extends its lead at the top

COBDOGLA extended its lead at the top of the division one Riverland tennis ladder, defeating fellow contender Berri on the road on Friday night.

In what was an outstanding performance from the visitors, Cobdogla fought hard, largely through the singles, with wins falling the way of Tom Nettle, Hayden Carter, and Will Swinstead to set up the victory.

Nettle and Carter also combined in the doubles matches to get the ball rolling for Cobdogla, which never looked back, securing an important victory.

Callan Maczkowiack and Eddie Day tried hard for Berri, who closed the gap at stages throughout the match, but the deficit proved too great to overcome.

Elsewhere, Renmark kept its hopes of a top-two finish alive, capitalising on Berri's defeat with a comprehensive win away from home against Loxton Yellow.

Renmark were on song in the early stages, lead by Dean Schumann and David Strongman who used their experience to get away to a flying start.

This was well supported by Abbas Qambari, and veteran John Pick, who continued winning matches for Renmark.

Phil Smith, Todd Griffin, and Nathan Gibbs gave Loxton Yellow some enjoyment, winning their singles clashes, but it mattered little to the overall scoreboard impact.

Loxton White and Loxton Yellow remain locked in a battle at the bottom of the ladder. Fourth spot is up for grabs with just three rounds remaining.

Note: due to unforeseen circumstances, some Riverland tennis results were unable to be published in this week's The Murray Pioneer.

Finals at the ready for Riverland Baseball League

THE minor rounds of the 2024/25 Riverland baseball season are officially in the books, and the final round of action saw Berri Red firm as the premiership favourites.

Berri Red earned a week off this week, winning straight through to the grand final, finishing the home and away season with a 13-run victory.

Berri Red youngster Ethan Thomas pitched an outstanding game, keeping the ever-improving Renmark Blue team scoreless.

Meanwhile, in an outstanding effort from Harry Lang in catcher position for Renmark Blue, who fielded well on the whole.

Elsewhere, it was a semi-final preview between Renmark White and Berri Blue, with the Renmark side romping in a nine-run win.

White proved the stronger team throughout, in what a great team effort batting and fielding, with Berri Blue battling hard, but just failing to get over the line.

Next week will see a rematch, to see who will play Berri Red in the big one.

NetSetGo teams up with Riverland clubs

LACHLAN DAND

EMERGING as one of the most-popular sports in the Riverland, aspiring junior netballers in the region will have the opportunity to try out for the Woolworths NetSetGo program across the coming weeks.

The Woolworths NetSetGo Come and Play Day is set to be highlighted across the nation with kids aged between 5 and 10 getting the opportunity to try their hand at netball.

The free sessions commenced across some Riverland towns on Saturday, with Loxton Netball Club to host its session on 27 February.

Club representative Michelle Pannell said the program is important to the region, ensuring netball is sustainable for future years.

“NetSetGo is the grassroots, national program for netball, so we’re promoting their Come and Play Day so people can come and have a try,” she said.

“It’s really important that we keep this program going for the juniors, and netball is growing streams both here in the Riverland, and nationwide.

“There are really good numbers state wise for netball at the moment, and if we’re bringing it back to the Riverland and competing well that shows great signs.”

Netball Australia’s executive general manager of netball Megan Simpson supported Ms Pannell’s comments, ensuring NetSetGo helps build a life-long love of the sport.

“February is the perfect time for parents to start to think about sports for their children, and Come and Play Day is the perfect opportunity to get a taste of the program and see what netball offers both on, and off the court,” she said.

“It’s also a great opportunity for families to come together and reconnect with friends after the school holiday break.

“We are really proud of the vibrant and diverse netball community we have across netball centres in Australia.

“Come and Play Day is one of the key times where we can connect with the next generation of netballers, inspiring them to engage in community sport in a fun, safe, inclusive and accessible way.”

Those interested in getting involved in the NetSetGo program can visit the website (www.netball.com.au/netsetgo) for more information.

An all too familiar bowls fixture

THE same fixture as last season’s Riverland bowls division one Saturday pennants grand final is scheduled once again, with Berri to take on Waikerie.

Having booked its spot in the decider the week earlier when it took on Barmera, Berri awaited the winner of the battle between Barmera and Waikerie, at Loxton RSL, on Saturday afternoon.

With Barmera the favourite, Waikerie flipped the script in order to take home the victory, sweeping the rinks for a 35-shot win.

Wayne Collins’ four delivered the biggest winning margin of the match, earning a 17-shot victory over Ron Reynolds’ team.

Additionally, Grant Frahm’s quartet took home a 10-shot win over Andy Gapco’s side in a competitive battle.

Andrew Fulwood’s group also tasted success, delivering an eight-shot victory against the four skippered by John Morena.

This week’s division one grand final will be played at Loxton, as will the division four decider between Berri and Barmera, and the division five contest between Monash and Lyrup.

Division two saw Monash book its place in the grand final against Waikerie with a 32-shot win over Loxton in Lyrup, while Loxton Gold, which outclassed Berri by 10 shots, are also set to battle Waikerie.

The division two and three grand finals will be held at Loxton RSL, meaning all bowls teams head to Bookpurnong Road in hopes of a premiership crown.

Berri’s Jenke on the big stage

LACHLAN DAND

HIGHLY skilled Berri Bowling Club member Gerrin Jenke continues taking his game to the next level, recently competing in the South Australian Country Carnival, in Marion.

Jenke showed his class at the carnival, outclassing a bulk of his opponents in the singles competition, and making it all the way to the final.

Making it through the semi final against McLaren Vale’s Les Carter by 21-10, Jenke faced off against Streaky Bay’s Mark Wrigley.

Although going down in the final 21-12, Jenke said the experience was thoroughly enjoyable.

“I’ve done a bit of representative bowls stuff for the last seven or eight years, so it’s nice to be able to go down to Adelaide and compete,” he said.

“I mainly do it all for fun, and I look at it as the further I get the better, and I try and go one better than the previous year each time.”

Jenke, alongside his father Neville, recently became a qualified coach, helping the next generation become better bowlers.

“I love helping anyone really, it doesn’t matter to me what age they are, I just love seeing people improve what they’re doing and have fun,” he said.

“I started playing bowls when I was around seven years old, so I’ve been going for nearly 20 years myself.

“It’s really good to meet people, so I definitely recommend getting involved to anyone that would be interested in doing so.”

LAKE BONNEY YACHT CLUB

LAKE Bonney Yacht club skippers competed for the prestigious ‘Eb Farmer Perpetual Trophy’ on Saturday afternoon.

Sailing conditions described as “excellent” saw a 12-to-15-knot south westerly breeze, along with the usual wind shifts and bullets added to make it challenging.

Only five boats competed, which was a bit disappointing, but, a field of skilled skippers and boats took to the course.

The Contender class boats of Beau

Delaine and Geoff Ling bolted from the start, with Paper Tiger catamaran, helmed by Brenton Menzel, very close in third place off the line.

The first triangle of the course was still very close until the breeze freshened considerably to a gusty 20ish knots, which saw the Contenders start to really wind up and stretch the fleet.

The Aeros had a capsize each, changing their positions on the course.

The Menzel Paper Tiger showed good speed in the high winds, however, was caught out on the wrong side of a couple of shifts, keeping him in third place on course until the last 300m, getting over the line in second place.

The Aeros were showing some good upwind speed, but failed to match the rest of the fleet.

RESULTS

Contender, ‘Bandit’, Beau Delaine; Contender, ‘Pushing Limits’ Geoff Ling; Paper Tiger ‘Talisman’ Brenton Menzel.

RFL confirms 2025 commission

THE Riverland Football League Commission is set to go for season 2025, with possibly one of the most exciting campaigns just over two months from kicking off.

Commissioner duo Andrew Linke and Brenton Fenwick were appointed vice chairs at the February meeting, following the earlier announcement of Bruce Gehling as the independent chair.

Club nominees are:

- Nigel Dillon (Barmera-Monash)
- Ron Foulds (Berri)
- Brad Yeomans (Loxton)
- Robbo Robertson (Loxton North)
- Robbie Bonner (Renmark)
- Henry Crawford (Waikerie)

Furthermore, the meeting saw a presentation from SANFL's Matthew Northcott on ways to engage and develop junior umpires, giving them an opportunity to umpire the under 11 and under 9 grades.

There is an amendment to the recently published fixture, with the second semi final to be held at Berri Oval, and Loxton the home of the preliminary final.

Club delegates discussed several topics still to be voted on in March, however, there was confirmation that the under 11 and under 9s will align with the RFL fixture from round three, commencing on Friday 9 May.

Crows kicking goals for kids in important programs

YOUNG Riverlanders in child protection programs have the chance to travel to Adelaide Crows home games this season through a partnership with the State Government.

Announced last week, the Adelaide Football Club is pledging 500 tickets to children and young people in care for its AFL home games in season 2025.

The pledge, through the Adelaide Crows Foundation's Crows Care Program, builds on a growing partnership between the club and the Department for Child Protection (DCP).

The initiative is designed to provide greater access to the club's home games, and to "create unforgettable moments for carers and their children".

Under the scheme, the Foundation will provide 25 tickets to DCP for distribution, and another 25 to non-government care providers, each home game.

The club will have 11 home games this season – the first being round one against St Kilda on Sunday 16 March.

The State Government has so far invested more than $580m into the child protection and family support system, funding a range of programs that support children and young people in care.

The commitment from the Adelaide Crows Foundation falls under a wider partnership between DCP and the Office for Recreation, Sport and Racing (ORSR) to engage children and young people in contact with the child protection and family support system in sport, recognising the mental, physical and emotional wellbeing benefits this provides.

Minister for Child Protection, Katrine Hildyard said "young people deserve to make the connections they do through sport, no matter the situation they find themselves in."

"Like all young people, children in contact with the child protection and family support system deserve to be safe, loved, nurtured and afforded the best opportunities to participate in and enjoy community life," she said.

"Sport is a powerful part of community life in South Australia; it helps people know that they are not alone, that they belong and that there is a community of people there for them, and sport can be so uplifting.

"Watching the Crows empowers and inspires, and being part of the Crows community can help improve the lives of the children and families cheering them on from the Adelaide Oval stands.

"Our government is committed to getting kids active – that includes kids who have not always had the opportunity to be involved in sport and who benefit most from being included."

Minister for Recreation, Sport and Racing Emily Bourke said the program would help young people feel included.

"Working with organisations like the Crows gives young people a way to engage in sport that they may otherwise miss out on," she said. "This initiative demonstrates the wide-ranging benefits of turning our plan into action, partnering with the community to improve accessibility and support children in care."

Adelaide Crows Foundation chairperson Kate Thiele said the club's foundation serves an important purpose for young people.

"The Adelaide Crows Foundation is committed to using the power of sport to make a positive impact on the lives of local children and youth," she said.

"Following the success of our partnership with the DCP over the past two years, we are proud to continue this important initiative to give children in care the opportunity to experience the joy of footy."

Bloods set to make Riverland trip

JUNIOR football players in the Riverland will have the opportunity to train with SANFL club West Adelaide this weekend.

The Bloods' senior men's players will be running a Superstars Clinic on Sunday, at Berri Oval, from 11:30am-12:30pm, with signings and photos on offer after the clinic.

A free event, Westies invite boys and girls aged between 5 and 16 to RFL HQ, where a focus on encouraging skill development and teamwork will be at the forefront of the coaches' minds.

To register, visit the Riverland Football League Facebook page and scan the QR code available.

Loxton finishes on top in Interschool Swimming

LOXTON High School showed its prowess as the dominant athletics school in the Riverland, taking out the 2025 Interschool Swimming Carnival on Monday night.

Competing at home, Loxton romped to victory by 159 points ahead of Berri Regional Secondary College in second place, following pennant wins on three occasions in the boys age groups, and four in the girls' groups.

Loxton won the under 13 girls pennant, under 15 girls pennant, under 16 girls pennant, and under 20 girls pennant, as well as the under 14 boys pennant, under 15 boys pennant, and under 20 boys pennant.

Renmark High finished narrowly behind Berri Regional, rounding out the top three in the process, while Waikerie High settled for fourth place.

Waikerie did leave the Loxton pool with some success, taking out the most improved shield on 975 points ahead of Loxton in second on 943, Berri in third on 934, and Renmark finishing in fourth on 817.

Full results, and more photos from the Interschool Swimming Carnival will appear in next week's edition of The Murray Pioneer.

GUIDE

FEBRUARY 19-25, 2025

Dressed for success

IT'S A story every TV producer dreams of: four years after legal drama Suits called it quits in 2019, the series became the most-streamed show of 2023 (even beating Bluey).

Whatever the reason for its belated surge in popularity (though razor-sharp writing, racy office romances and curiosity about Meghan Markle's acting talents come to mind), creator Aaron Korsh can only hope lightning strikes twice with this West Coast spin-off.

It follows former New York federal prosecutor Ted Black (Arrow's Stephen Amell, pictured), whose fresh start as an entertainment lawyer isn't going to plan - his Black Lane firm is in dire straits and he's not at all keen on the only way to save it from ruin.

"He is struggling as a leader," Amell reveals of his character.

"Sometimes he can get so driven and so focused on what's in front of him or the next battle to win that he loses sight of his relationships with the people closest to him, and that's what really manifests in the pilot."

Black is joined in the office by his business partner, criminal lawyer Stuart Lane (Josh McDermitt), and young legal eagles Rick Dodson (Bryan Greenberg) and Erica Rollins (Lex Scott Davis).

Let the power games begin!

February 2025: week 3

Horoscopes

ARIES

MAR 21ST - APR 20TH

A powerful aspect to Pluto could bring some secrets out of the box this week. The way you handle this situation will be crucial: be completely honest, and everything will be fine. Nobody expects you to be perfect! Romance. Your relationship should be in good shape. Don't get into an argument over household chores, however.

TAURUS

APR 21ST - MAY 21ST

A long conversation with a friend will help you to get to grips with a recent problem. Listen to what this person has to say, but don't be afraid to stick to your own ideas if you think they are better. Romance. A mystery trip around the middle of the week may end up being more exciting than you bargained for.

GEMINI

MAY 22ND - JUN 21ST

A co-worker may say something which is less than honest. A favourable aspect to Neptune will give your powers of intuition a boost and help you to work out what is real and what is not. Romance. Don't let your dreamy mood mean that you get behind on a practical matter which affects both you and your partner.

CANCER

JUN 22ND - JUL 23RD

This won't be the best time for a wild spending spree. Be careful about your finances and try not to waste money, especially towards the end of the week, when you may be feeling a bit too relaxed. Romance. A friend whom you have not seen for many years has not forgotten you. This person will come back into your life when you least expect it.

LEO

JUL 24TH - AUG 23RD

You mean business this week! A strong aspect to Mars gives you the drive and focus to cut to the heart of important matters. You won't want to put up with any nonsense. Romance. This would be a good time to work on an issue which has caused tension in the past. Your confidence will help you to get your partner onboard with your point of view.

VIRGO

AUG 24TH - SEP 23RD

Don't be afraid to let things go for a few days and just enjoy yourself! You have been through a lot recently, and need a short break. Romance. A meeting on the way to work will reassure you that you are still attractive. A recent let-down may have dented your confidence.

LIBRA

SEP 24TH - OCT 23RD

Luck may be on your side this week, thanks to a powerful aspect to Jupiter. Don't be afraid to take a risk! An informed gamble could pay off in a big way, so long as you stick to your guns. Romance. If you pay attention to your partner's feelings this week and dig a little deeper, you could make an important discovery.

SCORPIO

OCT 24TH - NOV 22ND

A strong determination to find what you are looking for will pay off in the end. You will save yourself a lot of trouble if you don't ignore the obvious signs. Romance. A favourable aspect to Mercury will help you to communicate your needs fairly and honestly with your partner. This would be a good time for a chat.

SAGITTARIUS

NOV 23RD - DEC 21ST

Interaction with animals may be just what you need this week. A companion animal will pick up on feelings that you may not be aware of. Romance. Watch out for frustrations in your relationship early in the week. A favourable aspect to Mercury will help communications between you, but you both need to be honest about your feelings.

CAPRICORN

DEC 22ND - JAN 20TH

A plan which has been in the making for some time will finally be realised. However, one of your ideas may need to be revised before this will happen. Romance. A surprise present from your partner will help to draw you closer together. This will be an excellent time for a serious discussion about issues which have caused problems in the past.

AQUARIUS

JAN 21ST - FEB 19TH

Do your best to organize your time as efficiently as possible. You have a lot to get through this week and must cut out anything which is unnecessary. Romance. A favourable aspect to Venus will help your love-life to blossom. A meeting later in the week will be worth looking forward to. Take things one step at a time.

PISCES

FEB 20TH - MAR 20TH

The tables may be turned this week: you could find yourself in a position where you out-smart a person who is senior to you. Trust your own judgement in this matter. Romance. Don't let an issue over money come between you. You may need to ignore an event which seems important at the time.

RECORD SUPER BOWL AUDIENCE, REACHES 2.6 MILLION...

EAGLES' SUPER BOWL VICTORY SOARS HIGH FOR SEVEN

THE biggest sporting event in the US this year, Super Bowl LIX, scored with Australians, with the Seven Network's live and free broadcast on Seven and 7plus Sport reaching 2.6 million people.

The Philadelphia Eagles' resounding win over the Kansas City Chiefs at Caesars Superdome in New Orleans had an average national total TV audience of 892,000, up 11 per cent on last year's showdown between the Kansas City Chiefs and the San Francisco 49ers – and a record result for Seven.

On 7plus Sport, Super Bowl LIX reached 406,000 people exclusively, with an average audience of 157,000, up 34 per cent, and 43 million minutes streamed.

Super Bowl LIX Post Game reached 1.19 million, with a national audience total TV audience of 548,000.

Yesterday's game capped Seven's big 2024-25 NFL season, which reached 4.7 million people, with audiences up 6 per cent year-on-year.

Seven Network director of sport, Chris Jones, said "on one of the biggest days in world sport, as our very own Jordan Mailata became the first Australian to win a Super Bowl, Australian audiences were tuned in to Seven and 7plus Sport".

"The Super Bowl is one of the world's greatest sporting spectacles, and we are thrilled to deliver every heart-racing moment live and free on Seven and 7plus Sport," he said.

"Connecting Australians with the world's biggest and best sporting events is at the heart of everything we do, and we're proud to bring audiences closer to the NFL action every week of the season."

Seven West Media managing director, digital Gereurd Roberts said "the record-breaking streaming numbers for this year's Super Bowl followed a ground-breaking summer of cricket, showing 7plus has truly established itself as the home of free, premium sport for all Australians".

"With the AFL to be streamed for free to Australians for the first time ever from 6 March, 7plus' place at the heart of Australian households will only strengthen as we deliver tier one sport across all 52 weeks of the year."
